PRESS CONFERENCE

2/9/66

by Commissioner Hoving - Design Competition (see #19 - Kiosk)
The filing period for the temporary positions of Seasonal Parkmen, Seasonal Park Helpers, and Playground Assistants has been extended to March 11, 1966, it was announced today by Thomas P. F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks.

Because of the recent transit strike, Commissioner Hoving is allowing the additional time for those who were unable to file because of this situation.

The original closing date was February 11, 1966.
Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving announced today that the first event of the "au Go Go" season would take place at the Mall in Central Park on Saturday afternoon, April 23rd, from 12:30 P.M. to 4:30 P.M. Commissioner Hoving said that TAJ Enterprises Corporation would hold open auditions for amateur and professional dancers.

The judges for the occasion will include leading disc jockeys; also Henry Hope Reed, Jr., Curator of Central Park, and Peter Aschkenasy, Assistant to the Executive Director of the Department of Parks. Commissioner Hoving will attend the auditions.

The 64 winners will appear at a June 10th concert, "Soundblast '66," starring Ray Charles and the Beach Boys, Mamas and Papas, Stevie Wonder, the McCoys, the Gentrys and other artists.

The Central Park Mall is located south of the 72nd Street transverse road in Central Park. TAJ Enterprises will produce other "au Go Go" events in city parks during the summer.
Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving informed the Board of Estimate and the City Council Finance Committee at the capital budget hearings today that he was "satisfied with the twenty-five and a half million dollars allotted to Parks in the coming year". Hoving called the allotment for Parks "an action budget rather than a paper budget".

The Parks Commissioner said that the 1966-67 Capital Budget "reflects the projects that we will actually be able to move in the next fiscal year—not a host of political promises that cannot possibly be processed."

Noting that the Parks Department's Design and Construction division was "seriously understaffed", Commissioner Hoving said that "Until we can gear our machinery to processing a greater load, we cannot honestly or responsibly ask for more capital funds."

However, Commissioner Hoving assured representatives of Bedford-Stuyvesant in Brooklyn that budget cuts made in a recreation center in Tompkins Square and in the proposed Kosciusko swimming pool would not "delay these two projects by one single day." Commissioner Hoving said that "if the books are removed from the library in Tompkins Square where the recreation center is to be built and if the 75 families are relocated from the Kosciusko swimming pool site and final design plans are ready in this coming year, I will come back to the Mayor and plead for the restoration of the funds in this budget."

Commissioner Hoving requested the restoration of funds "for the soft surfacing of a ball field in the James J. Walker Playground in Greenwich Village", so that children playing in the Little League teams in that area "do not have to travel all the way to Central Park for their games."

HECKSCHER PLAYGROUND, THE CHILDREN’S ZOO AND CARL SCHURZ PARK WILL BE THE FIRST TO BE CLOSED WARNS PARKS COMMISSIONER HOVING IF HIS DEPARTMENT'S BUDGET IS NOT RAISED.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving warned today that "the Heckscher Playground, the Children’s Zoo and Carl Schurz Park will be among those facilities that will be closed down first if my Department doesn't get a fair share of the city's Expense Budget this year." Speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Women's City Club, Commissioner Hoving said that "every year since 1956, the Parks Department's share of the total city budget has been shrinking. We've gone down from 1.547 per cent in the 1956-1957 budget to 1.099 in 1965-1966. If this trend continues, we'll end up at 0.0% of the total city budget."

Commissioner Hoving said that "the result of this diminishing budget is what you see—a shameful physical deterioration of the city's park system. Unless I have your support, and the support of the general public at the budget hearings in May," Commissioner Hoving said, "I am just going to have to hang a sign on a lot of parks and playgrounds that have been closed down saying 'Sorry, we're out of money'. And the pinch is going to be felt first right here in Manhattan in some of the most visible park facilities in the city. I am not going to economize at the expense of people in East New York, Bedford-Stuyvesant, Corona-East Elmhurst and the southeast Bronx—to mention a few of the many places in this city that have been getting the dirty end of the budget stick for too long."

Commissioner Hoving told the Women's City Club that "Mayor Lindsay is extremely sympathetic to the problems of the Parks Department and he is not the man you have to convince. It is the Board of Estimate and the City Council—and, ultimately, the Congress, because we are going to need federal money for park maintenance, too,"

The Parks Commissioner said that he was asking for $56 million for the Parks Department's expenses for the 1966-1967 fiscal year, a net raise of $12.8 million over last year's budget. "This budget raise would provide," said Commissioner Hoving, "547 additional recreation leaders and playground assistants at a cost of a little over $2 million; the new crack maintenance teams now operating in the 5 boroughs, 'Operation Spruce-Up', call for $1.3 million; $37,520 is for desperately needed in-service training for personnel (at the moment we have 6,000—10,000 in the summer time—and only one man who pulls personnel off their jobs to train them to train others); and $109,000 for legal, design and community relations assistance."

The Commissioner noted that the community relations assistance was essential "if we are to keep our promise not to ram any more standardized parks designs down the throats of communities. There are literally hundreds of community groups that have park and playground projects now and we just don't have enough personnel to sit down with each of them and work out plans that are satisfactory to them and to us."

MOVING ANNOUNCES CURATORS FOR CENTRAL AND PROSPECT PARKS

Two of the nation's leading architectural historians will be named curators of Prospect and Central Parks by Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving on Wednesday, January 19th at 10 a.m. at the Arsenal.

Hoving announces curators for Central and Prospect Parks

"Two of the nation's leading architectural historians", were named by Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving as curators of Central and Prospect Parks at a press conference at the Arsenal today, (Wednesday, January 19th). In announcing his appointment of Henry Hope Reed, Jr. as Curator of Central Park and Clay Lancaster as Curator of Prospect Park, Parks Commissioner Hoving noted that "these two parks are internationally recognized as great works of art, and, just as one would not take a wire brush and Mr. Clean to a fine painting, one must have the same kind of sensitivity and expertise in the care and restoration of these works of Frederick Law Olmsted."

Commissioner Hoving said that the two curators, who will be assisted by a $4,000 grant each from the J.M. Kaplan Foundation and funded through the Greensward Foundation, "will be charged with the responsibility of advising the Commissioner on 'keeping' these historic monuments, and will act just as a curator in a great art or science or natural history museum." The Parks Commissioner noted that "I have deliberately chosen men who are not only distinguished in their field but who live near their respective parks and who know every part of each park's history, development, and design." Mr. Lancaster is a resident of Columbia.
Heights in Brooklyn, and Mr. Reed lives on Manhattan's East Side.

Commissioner Hoving also announced the appointment of three assistants: Mrs. Julie North Chelminski who will be Assistant to the Commissioner and help in the reorganization of the Department of Parks; Mrs. Mary Perot Nichols, Public Relations Advisor; and Mr. Arthur Rosenblatt, A.I.A., Design Consultant to the Commissioner. Mr. Rosenblatt is employed by Urban America, Inc. on a grant from the American Conservation Foundation, the Taconic Foundation and the Dell Publishing Foundation and assigned to the Parks Department. Mr. Rosenblatt will advise the Parks Commissioner on the raising of the quality of architectural and landscape design both in the Department and in the selection of outside designers.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving welcomed the addition of a gaily painted and versatile Dutch Organ to Central Park on Wednesday morning, April 6th, at a press conference near the Pony Track at the southern entrance to the Central Park Zoo.

"The Dutch word for 'joie de vivre' is 'plezier in het leven'," said Commissioner Hoving, "and that's what this lovely instrument will add to Central Park."

In thanking representatives of four Dutch organizations in New York who cooperated in bringing the Dutch organ to Central Park—KLM (Royal Dutch Airlines), the Holland-America Line, the Netherlands National Tourist Office and the Netherlands Information Service—and its proprietors, Norman Ernsting a New Yorker of Dutch descent and his Dutch fiancee, Elisabeth Schaly, Commissioner Hoving said, "This is the best deal for New Yorkers since the Dutch bought Manhattan Island from the Indians for only 24 bucks."

At the press conference Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving cranked out an up tempo march on the Dutch street organ which will be heard daily during the summer season in the Zoo area and other locations in Central Park. The present location is at the Pony Track near the entrance of the Zoo, at Fifth Avenue and 63rd Street. The Dutch street organ will be played daily free of charge to all Central Park visitors.

The organ is named 'Flower Belles' after the two carved animated figures which preside over the ornamental baroque facade which is decorated with baskets of flowers. The organ, nine feet tall by twelve feet long, weighs almost 2,000 pounds, and is permanently mounted on a three-wheeled lindenwood cart. Plans are being made, to transfer the organ to various locations in the park.
'Flower Belles',— built in 1905 by the Brothers Richter, contains over 450 square wooden pipes, eight bases, snare and base drums, cymbals and a glockenspiel, and its musical repertoire provides a great variety of shadings, pitches and vocal tones, simulating the sound of violins, flutes, trumpets and trombones, and create many virtuoso effects.

The organ is played mechanically by turning a flywheel which in turn pumps air into large bellows. Perforated cardboard music books are fed into the organ and trip the 87 keys which allow air to flow into the appropriate pipes to play a varied program such as Strauss waltzes, Sussa marches, and Dutch folk tunes.

The mustachioed man behind 'Flower Belles' is Norman Ernsting, who with his Dutch Fiancée Elisabeth Schaly, became interested in organs during the New York World’s Fair. It was at the Belgian Village, where the couple performed for two seasons with their Puchinello’s Puppet Theatre, that the hurdy-gurdy music of the old steam-carousel caught their imagination and they determined to have a street organ of their very own.

After the Fair, the couple made a special trip to Holland in hopes of buying a Dutch street organ but they found there were none for sale nor owners willing to part with their treasures. Finally, in the little village near Amsterdam Elisabeth has once gone to school, the couple ended their search in the work-shop of Antoon Pluer, a little-known organ builder and repairman.

Antoon Pluer, a craftsman of the old European tradition, continues the almost lost profession of street organ builder. In his work shop, with the help of his apprentice son, he was finishing the restoration of the Richter organ. With much devotion he had repaired this beautiful organ, building new bellows, fitting new pipes and leather valves, and cutting new music books.
Street organs became a favorite form of entertainment during the late 19th and early 20th century in France, Belgium, Germany and Holland. Today it is only in Amsterdam that organs like 'Flower Belles' can be seen and heard playing popular tunes, marches, waltzes and modern hits in the cobble-stoned streets and squares.

These instruments all have been endowed with names and representational scenes are painted on their heavily carved facades. The street organs are placed on three-wheeled carts and pulled about. They are all hand cranked. Great pride and rivalry exist among the organ grinders, and the instruments are kept in perfect condition mechanically as well as in appearance.

The Wedding March

#Amsterdam folk tunes
'Flower Belles', built in 1905 by the Brothers Richter, contains over 450 square wooden pipes, eight bases, snare and base drums, cymbals and a glockenspiel, and its musical repertoire provides a great variety of shadings, pitches and vocal tones, simulating the sound of violins, flutes, trumpets and trombones, and create many virtuoso effects.

The organ is played mechanically by turning a fly-wheel which in turn pumps air into large bellows. Perforated cardboard music books are fed into the organ and trip the 87 keys which allow air to flow into the appropriate pipes to play a varied program such as Strauss waltzes, Sousa marches, and Dutch folk tunes.

The mustachioed man behind 'Flower Belles' is Norman Ernsting, who with his Dutch fiancee Elisabeth Schaly, became interested in organs during the New York World's Fair. It was at the Belgian Village, where the couple performed for two seasons with their Puchinello's Puppet Theatre, that the hurdy-gurdy music of the old steam-carousel caught their imagination and they determined to have a street organ of their very own.

After the Fair, the couple made a special trip to Holland in hopes of buying a Dutch street organ but they found there were none for sale nor owners willing to part with their treasures. Finally, in the little village near Amsterdam Elisabeth had once gone to school, the couple ended their search in the work-shop of Anton Pluer, a little-known organ builder and repairman.

Anton Pluer, a craftsman of the old European tradition, continues the almost lost profession of street organ builder. In his work shop, with the help of his apprentice son, he was finishing the restoration of the Richter organ. With much devotion he had repaired this beautiful organ, building new bellows, fitting new pipes and leather valves, and cutting new music books.
Street organs became a favorite form of entertainment during the late 19th and early 20th century in France, Belgium, Germany and Holland. Today it is only in Amsterdam that organs like 'Flower Belles' can be seen and heard playing popular tunes, marches, waltzes and modern hits in the cobble-stoned streets and squares.

These instruments all have been endowed with names and representational scenes are painted on their heavily carved facades. The street organs are placed on three-wheeled carts and pulled about. They are all hand cranked. Great pride and rivalry exist among the organ grinders, and the instruments are kept in perfect condition mechanically as well as in appearance.

SECOND ANNUAL FREE SKATING CHAMPIONSHIPS

Attached you will find copies of memoranda which describe the preparations involved in preparing for the First Annual Free Skating Championships at which there was some sixty (60) competitors from the Eastern Seaboard.

As you can see, this was under the auspices of the Park Figure Skating Club Inc., which was formed with the opening of the Wollman Rink in 1950. It was organized for the purpose of providing opportunities for children from every economic background to develop skills in figure skating. Some members of the Board of Directors of the club are qualified to administer the various tests since the club is affiliated with the American Figure Skating Association.

The Free Skating Meet, held on April 10th last year, was presented free of charge to all spectators. The competitors paid a small entry fee. It was a very interesting competition and attracted many spectators and included radio, television and newspaper coverage as well.

The Board of Directors have voted in favor of holding the second annual competition on April 2, 1966, and, should there be rain on that day, it would be postponed to April 3. This would mean that, just as last year, the entire day from 8:00 a.m. through 5:00 p.m. would be devoted to the competition. The regular evening session for the general public could be held just as it was in 1965. In view of the fact that the 110th Street rink will be open and available for skaters who are not particularly interested in watching the competition, I would be in favor of the renewal of this event.

Mr. Paul Von Gassner, the senior professional at the rink has had some preliminary discussions with an executive of ABC television concerning the possibility of live coverage of parts of this event. They appear to be interested in this idea. If you approve we can move ahead on preparations for the competition, and I will prepare a letter for your signature to Mr. Robert Mullens of ABC television, in which it will be suggested that he discuss the possibilities of television coverage in some detail with your office.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving kept a campaign pledge of Mayor John V. Lindsay as he announced today the first of the Parks Department's architectural competitions. Said Hoving at a press conference at the Arsenal today, "In his White Paper on Parks and Recreation Mayor Lindsay pledged that he would bring back the opportunity for imagination, taste and creative design that existed in the 19th century when New York City led the nation in park planning and design".

"With the generous assistance of the Horn and Hardart Company, we are inviting architects in the metropolitan area to compete for a $2,000 first prize for a prototype refreshment kiosk for Central Park", said Commissioner Hoving. Horn and Hardart has also agreed, Commissioner Hoving said "to provide up to $12,000 for the first kiosk." The architect who wins the $2,000 first prize will also receive the commission. The New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects will write the program for the competitors and will, with Horn and Hardart and the Parks Department, jointly select the panel of judges.

"We are presently searching for additional private funds to compensate the second and third runners-up in this competition", said Commissioner Hoving, "but", he added, "at least as important as who wins first, second or third place in this competition is the fact that we will tap hitherto unknown designers to whom we can offer other Parks Department design commissions."

Commissioner Hoving also announced the participation of "three of the city's major educational institutions" in the solving of "several of our park design problems." A class at the Pratt Institute will design a small triangular playground site adjacent to Columbia Heights in Brooklyn which was furnished by the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority. TBTA will also pay for the playground's construction.

Another class at the City College of New York, said Commissioner Hoving, will design a temporary knock-down recreation facility to be built on an extremely low budget in the Metro North Urban Renewal area in East Harlem. The site comprises about one-third of a block between 109th and 102nd street and the East River Drive. Still a third class at the Columbia School of Architecture will undertake "a feasibility study of a year-round marionette theater for one of our parks" said Commissioner Hoving. In each case of university participation, Commissioner Hoving emphasized that the Department would receive a variety of solutions to the problems involved which it could not afford to take on with its present limited design staff. The Commissioner also said that he was seeking the support of philanthropic groups to put up construction funds for the temporary East Harlem park.

In another announcement, Commissioner Hoving said that Make New York Beautiful, Inc., headed by George Delacorte, has made $1,000 available to improve the Department of Parks "typographic and graphic design needs". The $1,000 has been awarded, said Commissioner Hoving, "to a firm of extremely creative graphic designers, the Push-Pin Studios." Push-Pin Studios will survey Parks Department graphics from letterheads to signs in the parks, said Commissioner Hoving. "I think if we are aiming for the highest standards of design excellence in our over-all approach to park and recreation planning," Commissioner Hoving said, "that we have to demonstrate what we mean by good design."

Commissioner Hoving also announced the appointment of Henry J. Stern as Executive Director of the Office of Cultural Affairs and Executive Director of the Parks Department, responsible for programming. Mr. Stern will also act as Counsel to the Department of Parks. Mr. Stern was formerly Assistant to Manhattan Borough Presidents Constance Baker Motley and Edward R. Dudley. He is a Vice-President of the non-partisan Council for Parks and Playgrounds. Mr. Stern is a graduate of City-College and of the Harvard Law School.

IN HIS WHITE PAPER ON PARKS AND RECREATION, MAYOR LINDSAY PLEDGED THAT HE WOULD BRING BACK THE "OPPORTUNITY FOR IMAGINATION, TASTE AND CREATIVE DESIGN" THAT EXISTED IN THE 19TH CENTURY WHEN NEW YORK CITY LED THE NATION IN PARK PLANNING AND DESIGN.

TO THIS END, I AM ANNOUNCING TODAY THE FIRST OF MANY ARCHITECTURAL COMPETITIONS THAT THIS DEPARTMENT WILL SPONSOR. WITH THE GENEROUS ASSISTANCE OF THE HORN AND HARDART COMPANY, WE ARE INVITING ARCHITECTS IN THE METROPOLITAN AREA TO COMPETE FOR A $2,000 FIRST PRIZE FOR A PROTOTYPE REFRESHMENT KIOSK FOR CENTRAL PARK. THE HORN AND HARDART COMPANY HAS PROVIDED THE $2,000 FOR THE FIRST PRIZE, WHICH INCLUDES THE COMMISSION, AND THEY HAVE ALSO PLEDGED TO PROVIDE UP TO $12,000 FOR THE FIRST KIOSK. THE NEW YORK CHAPTER OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS, UNDER THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTION OF MR. CHARLES THOMSEN, WILL WRITE THE PROGRAM FOR THE COMPETITORS, AND WILL, WITH HORN AND HARDART AND THE PARKS DEPARTMENT, JOINTLY SELECT THE PANEL OF JUDGES. WE ARE PRESENTLY SEARCHING FOR ADDITIONAL PRIVATE FUNDS TO COMPENSATE THE SECOND AND THIRD RUNNERS-UP IN THIS COMPETITION. BUT AT LEAST AS IMPORTANT AS WHO WINS FIRST, SECOND OR THIRD PLACE IS THE FACT THAT WE WILL TAP HITHERTO UNKNOWN DESIGNERS TO WHOM WE CAN OFFER OTHER PARKS DEPARTMENT COMMISSIONS.

I AM ALSO GLAD TO ANNOUNCE THAT WE HAVE SOLICITED AND RECEIVED THE ASSISTANCE OF THREE OF THE CITY'S MAJOR EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS FOR THE SOLUTION OF SEVERAL OF OUR PARK DESIGN PROBLEMS. THE PRATT INSTITUTE'S COMMUNITY EDUCATION PROGRAM,ヘADED BY MR. RON SHIFFMAN, HAS AGREED TO MAKE THE DESIGN OF A SMALL, TRIANGULAR PLAYGROUND SITE ADJACENT TO COLUMBIA HEIGHTS IN BROOKLYN A CLASS PROJECT. THE PRATT DESIGN GROUP WILL STUDY THE NEIGHBORHOOD, ATTEND COMMUNITY MEETINGS TO FIND OUT WHAT THE PEOPLE IN THE AREA WANT, AND PRODUCE A

VARIETY OF SOLUTIONS TO THE DESIGN OF THIS PLAYGROUND. THE COST OF BUILDING THE PLAYGROUND WILL BE FOOTED, WITHIN REASONABLE LIMITS, BY THE TRIBOROUGH BRIDGE AND TUNNEL AUTHORITY, WHO ALSO GAVE US THE PIECE OF LAND. A DISTINGUISHED LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT, MR. ROBERT ZION, DESIGNER OF THE RECENTLY ANNOUNCED SAMUEL PALEY PLAZA HAS AGREED TO BE THE DESIGN CRITIC OF THE PRATT PROJECT.

THE COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE HAS TAKEN ON ANOTHER DESIGN PROBLEM—ONE OF THEIR CLASSES WILL DO A FEASIBILITY STUDY OF A YEAR-ROUND MARIONETTE THEATER FOR ONE OF OUR PARKS. THIS IS A PROJECT WHICH, WITH OUR PRESENT BUDGET, WE COULD NOT POSSIBLY TAKE ON OURSELVES. WE HOPE TO GET A NUMBER OF USEFUL SOLUTIONS TO THIS PROBLEM—AND, AT THE SAME TIME, THE COLUMBIA STUDENTS WILL HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO WORK ON A REAL PROBLEM. THE DESIGN CRITIC HERE WILL BE MR. ROMALDO GIURGOLA, A WORLD-RENOWNED ARCHITECT AND PROFESSOR AT COLUMBIA.

I AM ESPECIALLY PLEASED THAT WE HAVE ENLISTED THE COOPERATION OF ONE OF NEW YORK CITY'S OWN SCHOOLS, CITY COLLEGE, FOR ANOTHER PROJECT. THIS IS AN EXPERIMENTAL, KNOCK-DOWN PARK AT A VERY LOW BUDGET FOR A TEMPORARY SITE IN THE METRO NORTH URBAN RENEWAL AREA OF EAST HARLEM. ON A ONE-THIRD OF A BLOCK SITE BETWEEN 100TH AND 102ND STREET AND THE EAST RIVER, WE HOPE TO ERECT A TRACK AND SOFT BALL FIELD WITH A SITTING AND PLAY AREA STUDENTS FROM CCNY MET WITH THE COMMUNITY AT A MEETING LAST NIGHT TO FIND OUT WHAT THEY WANTED. WE HOPE TO GET 15 TO 20 INDIVIDUAL SOLUTIONS TO THE PROBLEMS PRESENTED BY THIS PROJECT. THE STUDENTS WILL BE FOURTH YEAR ARCHITECTURAL STUDENTS INSTRUCTED BY MR. MARTIN BERLOW, AN ARCHITECT WITH THE FIRM OF CURTIS AND DAVIS. WE ARE HOPING THAT PHILANTHROPIC GROUPS WILL PROVIDE THE MONEY TO BUILD THIS TEMPORARY RECREATION FACILITY.

FINALLY, I WOULD LIKE TO ANNOUNCE THAT MAKE NEW YORK BEAUTIFUL, INC., A GROUP THAT HAS DONE SO MUCH TO BEAUTIFY OUR CITYSCAPE, HAS GRACIOUSLY PROVIDED US WITH A $1,000 GRANT WHICH WE ARE AWARDING TO A FIRM OF EXTREMELY CREATIVE GRAPHIC ARTISTS, THE PUSH PIN STUDIOS. PUSH PIN STUDIOS, WILL DO AN

INITIAL EXPLORATION OF OUR TYPOGRAPHIC AND GRAPHIC DESIGN NEEDS.

THIS WILL INCLUDE AN EXAMINATION OF OUR LETTERHEADS AND PUBLICATIONS AND THE SIGNS WHICH WE HAVE IN OUR PARK AND RECREATION FACILITIES. I THINK THAT IF WE ARE AIMING FOR THE HIGHEST STANDARDS OF DESIGN EXCELLENCE IN OUR OVER-ALL APPROACH TO PARK AND RECREATION PLANNING THAT WE HAVE TO DEMONSTRATE WHAT WE MEAN BY GOOD DESIGN. THIS WILL BE A LONG TERM PROGRAM AS FAR AS UPGRADING THE SIGNS IN OUR PARKS ARE CONCERNED. AS THEY NEED TO BE REPLACED, WE WILL REPLACE THEM WITH BETTER DESIGNS.

MR. ARTHUR ROSENBLATT, WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR RAISING OUR OVER-ALL DESIGN STANDARDS IN THE PARKS DEPARTMENT AND WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PROJECTS I AM ANNOUNCING TODAY IS HERE TO ANSWER ANY QUESTIONS. A REPRESENTATIVE OF HORN AND HARDART; MR. RICHARD KEMPE, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF MAKE NEW YORK BEAUTIFUL, INC. AND MR. CHARLES THOMSEN, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE NEW YORK AIA ARE ALSO PRESENT.

I HAVE TWO FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS: THE APPOINTMENT OF HENRY J. STERN AS EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE OFFICE OF CULTURAL AFFAIRS, MR. STERN WILL ALSO SERVE AS EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PARKS, RESPONSIBLE FOR PROGRAMMING AND AS COUNSEL TO THE DEPARTMENT. HE IS AN EXPERT IN CITY GOVERNMENT, BRINGING AN UNUSUAL COMBINATION OF YOUTH AND EXPERIENCE TO US. HIS WORK IN REVITALIZING MANHATTAN'S COMMUNITY PLANNING BOARDS IS CONSISTENT WITH MY GOAL OF BRINGING THE PARKS DEPARTMENT TO THE PEOPLE. AS ASSISTANT TO MR. STERN, I AM APPOINTING PETER ASCHKENASY, A LEHIGH UNIVERSITY GRADUATE WHO HAS BEEN A CAMP DIRECTOR, RECREATION LEADER AND TEACHER.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving and Bernard Relin, Chairman of the Board of Rheingold Breweries, Inc., at a press conference in Commissioner Hoving's office on Thursday morning, April 28th, announced plans for "the largest outdoor music festival in the world" to be held in the Wollman Skating Rink in Central Park.

The Wollman Rink concerts will feature such talent as Nina Simone, Herbie Mann, Pete Nero, Dionne Warwick, Stan Getz and Thelonius Monk. Commissioner Hoving and Mr. Relin said that "it will provide New Yorkers with 47 nights of almost continuous entertainment of a very high quality at minimal prices and will beat anything that such world-renowned festivals as Glyndebourne, Newport or San Remo have to offer."

At the press conference, Commissioner Hoving signed a contract with Kristal-Delsener, Inc., who will rent the Wollman Rink and will be responsible for the presentation of the summer entertainment. Rheingold Breweries will underwrite Kristal-Delsener's expenses for the entertainment as a public service so that admission prices may be held to a $1.00 maximum for evening performances and to 15¢ for matinees.

The festival will begin on July 1st and will continue each Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday through September 5th.

In thanking Mr. Relin for Rheingold's participation in the Central Park Music Festival, Commissioner Hoving said that "this is the kind of arrangement from which everyone benefits—Rheingold, by public service and good will, and the people of New York from the bargain prices for entertainment of this quality."

Commissioner Hoving also noted that the music festival would contribute to park safety. "Not one single serious incident occurred in Central Park last year," said the Commissioner, "during the Philharmonic concerts when thousands of people poured into the parks at night—a fact which bears up the idea that there is safety in crowds."
Hoving Announces "Operation Spruce-Up" in Brooklyn

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving will announce the inauguration of "Operation Spruce-Up" at a press conference at the New Lots Playground in the East New York section of Brooklyn on Thursday morning, March 3rd at 10 a.m.

"Operation Spruce-Up" is the creation of borough-wide mobile maintenance task forces that will be able to respond quickly to citizen complaints about broken benches, fences, and other minor repairs needed in parks and playgrounds. The new mobile maintenance task force for Brooklyn will begin repair work at the New Lots Playground on March 3rd.

Commissioner Hoving will spend the rest of this week and Monday of next working out of the Brooklyn Borough office of the Parks Department at Litchfield Mansion, Prospect Park West and 5th Street. The press is invited to accompany him from the New Lots Playground to Litchfield Mansion after the press conference.

The New Lots Playground is bounded by Riverdale, Sackman, Newport and Christopher Streets. The nearest subway is the IRT-New Lots line which stops at Junius Street.

STATEMENT BY PARKS COMMISSIONER THOMAS P.F. HOVING AT THE NEW LOTS PLAYGROUND, BROOKLYN, THURSDAY, MARCH 3rd, 1966 AT THE INAUGURATION OF THE PILOT PROJECT, "OPERATION SPRUCE-UP".

"Operation Spruce-Up" is a pilot project to facilitate the rapid repair of buildings, surfacing, playground equipment, and planting in our parks and playgrounds. If this method of using a mobile task force made up of the most skilled men from landscaping, maintenance and mechanical staffs, works in this borough, we will extend the method throughout the five boroughs.
If it works, it will revolutionize the whole manner of cleanup and maintenance employed by this department.

Our hope is that the mobile task force will enable us to use our limited maintenance manpower more efficiently. This task force will move first to the five worst parks in this borough which have been selected by our staff. It is also geared to move rapidly on citizen complaints of broken benches, fences, holes in surfacing and the like. We are urging the citizens of Brooklyn to telephone their complaints into the Brooklyn Borough Office to Mr. Herbert Harris, Borough Director. The number is 50 8-2300.

But I do want to make it clear that this is not a substitute for the additional manpower which this department desperately needs. Over the past 24 years, this department has been systematically stripped of the skilled men needed to maintain a park system that was ever expanding in a civilized city. Over a 24 year period, we have had a 40% increase in park

acreage and a 23% increase in the number of playgrounds. At the same time there has been only a 12% increase in the number of mechanics employed by this department. The result is what you see around you. Parks and playgrounds that have suffered such neglect in maintenance that they can only be brought back to usefulness by major capital budget expenditures.
I am going to ask for public support for an increased expense budget this spring, make no mistake about that.

We also have a serious problem in vandalism. My staff informs me that the cost of vandalism has increased each succeeding year since 1955. By showing that we, the government of the city care about our parks enough to tackle the day to day maintenance, I am hopeful that we can reduce this vandalism somewhat. There isn't much incentive not to vandalize, when a playground is a mess already. Also, by bringing the Department closer to the people in the neighborhood, by involving them in our plans for rehabilitation and for new parks, we hope to create a more protective feeling on the part of local people toward their parks.

Mr. Sam White, the Parks Department Director of Maintenance and Operations, and Herb Harris, Borough Director of Parks in Brooklyn, are here to answer any technical questions about Operation Spruce-Up.

PARKS COMMISSIONER HOVING EXPANDS "OPERATION SPRUCE-UP" TO THE BRONX AND QUEENS

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving announced today that "Operation Spruce-Up" would be extended into Bronx and Queens this week. "Operation Spruce-Up" is the new mobile unit of maintenance and landscape personnel that was inaugurated on March 3rd at the New Lots Playground in the East New York section of Brooklyn. The mobile units are a pilot project to determine if the Department of Park's limited manpower can be put to more efficient use. Each borough will eventually have its own mobile unit.

Commissioner Hoving said that "the clean-up and fix-up blitz in the New Lots Playground has justified its inauguration by its usefulness and by the community response to it. I am therefore extending this pilot project to the boroughs of Brooklyn and the Bronx. We will continue to watch its progress, and, if it continues to prove worthwhile, it will become the principal method by which the Parks Department carries out its park maintenance tasks."

The Parks Commissioner noted that "'Operation Spruce-Up' had received an extremely favorable reception in the New Lots Playground neighborhood" and released the text of a typical letter from a youngster who used the playground: "Thanks a million for cleaning up New Lots Park in Brooklyn for us kids. We like the Recreation Leader, J. Virgil. Please let him stay there. It would help us a lot."

Parks Commissioner Hoving said that "I am sure the newly aroused neighborhood will take an interest in this playground and will discourage acts of vandalism which are committed by a very small minority."

In the borough of the Bronx, the Forest Houses Playground, located on the south side of 166th Street between Tinton and Union Avenues, will be the first to be tackled by the Bronx task force, starting Monday, March 14th.

The kick-off date for "Operation Spruce-up" in Queens will be Tuesday, March 15th, at the Windmuller Playground at Woodside Avenue, 39th Avenue, 52nd Street and Skillman Avenue.

"Operations Spruce-Up" is led by Sam White, Director of Maintenance and Operations of the Department of Parks. Direct supervision of the task forces in each borough is exercised by the Borough Directors.

Reports by the public about playgrounds which require attention may be made directly to Borough Directors at the borough offices, Commissioner Hoving said. In the Bronx, the Borough Director is Harry Gross and the phone number is Talmadge 8-3200. The Queens Borough Director is Harold P. McManus, Gibraltar 2-7640.

Mayor John V. Lindsay has asked Thomas P.F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks, to institute in the park system an extensive campaign to help decrease the incidence of false fire alarms in New York City. Meetings have been arranged for Fire Department and Park Department personnel in all five boroughs to discuss areas in which cooperative efforts may be helpful in coping with the problem.

Recreation personnel in park playgrounds, in their daily association with children will impress upon them the danger to life and property that false alarms may cause. Posters made available by the Fire Department will be displayed on park playground bulletin boards. Also, supervisory recreation personnel in community group meetings will seek the cooperation of parents.

Park Department maintenance personnel will also cooperate in the campaign. They will endeavor to keep alarm boxes under observation while on work assignments and forestry crews will prune trees near fire signal light poles so that the location of fire alarm boxes will not be obscured.

Previous experience indicates that 40,000 false fire alarms will be made in 1966. The seriousness of this problem makes it imperative that every responsible citizen participate in the campaign to educate children in the danger inherent in every false fire alarm.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Original hand-painted signs announcing New York City's Parks Department's rehabilitation and beautification projects are being created by Del Sol Productions, commissioned by the Pepsi-Cola Company.

The first 8 x 12 ft. signs to be erected are for the General Sherman Park, 59th Street and Fifth Avenue and the Robert Moses Fllase, 29th Street and First Avenue. The sign for the General Sherman Park was unveiled Monday morning, May 16th by city officials assisted by James B. Somerall, President, Pepsi-Cola Company.

A few weeks ago Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving passed by the Pepsi-Cola Gallery located in the lobby of the Pepsi-Cola Company building, 59th Street and Park Avenue, and noticed the "Circus U.S.A." show then on display.

Commissioner Hoving, impressed by the original art work, inquired as to how he could achieve the same level of design for the signs announcing new Parks Department projects around New York City.

The result—Pepsi-Cola Company enthusiastically volunteered to commission signs by Del Sol Productions for Commissioner Hoving's projects.

Del Sol Productions, the design firm executing the signs, has produced many exhibitions for Pepsi-Cola Company in addition to the "Circus U.S.A." show. They recently accomplished the "Come Alive" show for the Pepsi-Cola Exhibition Gallery and designed the banners at the Vatican Pavilion for the New York World's Fair.
Thomas P.F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks, announces that the bathing and swimming season at the 17.96 miles of municipal-operated beach will open Saturday, May 21st, and sixteen outdoor swimming pools will open officially on May 28th, 1966.

From May 28th to June 18th, the pools will be open for week ends and holidays only, and from June 18th until the end of the season they will be open daily with the following operating schedule: On weekdays, Monday through Friday from 10:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., there will be a free period for children 14 years of age and under, during which hours no adults will be admitted to the pool area. After 1:00 p.m. on weekdays, and all day on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, there will be a 15¢ charge for children 14 years of age and under, and a 35¢ charge for older children and adults.

The aquatic program at park pools during July and August will include the annual Learn-to-Swim Campaign beginning July 5th, and conducted Monday through Friday during the free period for boys and girls 14 years of age and under; twelve competitive swimming meets, six for boys and six for girls to be held at a major pool in each borough.

Orchard Beach, located in Pelham Bay Park, Bronx; Jacob Riis Park Beach, and Rockaway Beach on the Rockaway Peninsula, Queens; Coney Island Beach and Manhattan Beach in Brooklyn; South Beach, Great Kills Park, and Wolfe's Pond Park on Staten Island will open for bathers on May 21st.
Bathhouse accommodations are available at Orchard Beach, Jacob Riis Park, Manhattan Beach, South Beach, Great Kills and will be open daily from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. at South Beach and Manhattan Beach lockers may be rented at nominal fee and bathhouse facilities may be used without charge. At Orchard Beach, Jacob Riis Park and Great Kills Beaches the locker rentals are 15¢ for children and 30¢ for adults.

Parking space, for which a fee is charged, is available at all beaches, and recreational area game courts are available free of charge at Jacob Riis Park, Orchard Beach, Rockaway, South Beach, Manhattan Beach and Coney Island.

Beach chairs and umbrellas may be rented at a nominal charge at Orchard Beach, Jacob Riis, Rockaway, Great Kills, Coney Island, Manhattan Beach and South Beach.

The eight parking fields located at Beach 32nd Street, Beach 53rd Street, Beach 59th Street, Beach 62nd Street, Beach 64th Street, Beach 67th Street, Beach 69th Street, and Beach 102nd Street will be available on May 22nd.
The Prospect Park Golden Age Center located in the Picnic House, near the West Drive and Fifth Street in Prospect Park, will be the scene of a Music and Dance Program on Saturday, May 21st, 1966, at 1:30 p.m., it was announced today by Commissioner of Parks Thomas P.F. Hoving.

Sponsored by the Williamsburgh Settlement House Center and the Colony House Youth Board, this event is part of the celebration of Senior Citizens' Month.
Thomas P.F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks, announced that a special program in observation of Senior Citizen's Month will be presented at the Prospect Park Golden Age Center, West Drive opposite 5th Street and Prospect Park West, on Saturday, May 28th, at 2:00 P.M.

The program will consist of presentations by a concert pianist, a dancer, a vocalist, and by a group of folk and square dancers.

All young-in-heart people, 60 years of age and over, as well as the public are invited to the Picnic House in Prospect Park for this occasion. Admission is free. This would be a good opportunity for those approaching retirement age to explore the recreational opportunities that Park Department senior citizens centers have to offer throughout the year.

These centers owe their popularity to their warm, club-like atmosphere and to the fact that the members help to plan their own activities. Today, one out of every ten persons is over the age of 65. Many have been too busy during their years of employment or while homemaking for their families to develop recreational interests which could be continued in later life. Membership in a Park Department Golden Age Center enables them to participate in meaningful activities and, equally important, to expand their circle of friendship. There are eight senior citizens centers in the park system.

Hoving, Commissioner of Parks, will accept a gift of funds from the Estee and Joseph Lauder Foundation, Inc., which will make possible the reconstruction and development of an unusual playground located at West 67th Street and Central Park West.

Presently there exists on this site a thirty-year-old standard Department of Parks play area. Within a year will rise what may very well be the most remarkable children's playground in New York City. This is the first "adventure playground" to be built under Commissioner Hoving's administration.

When completed the reconstructed area will be an "adventure playground" which, utilizing the most advanced techniques, will offer a new approach to creative play.

Exciting models and photographs will be on exhibit.
Goethe's FAUST, Part I, will be presented on Friday, June 10, 1966 in recital form at the Mall in Central Park as the initial production of the newly formed INTERNATIONAL REPERTORY THEATRE INC., it was announced by Thomas P.F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks.

This will be New York City's first professional English language presentation of this great drama since Goethe wrote it over a century and a half ago. The title role will be played by Philip Kroopf, who appeared in the park last season with the New York Shakespeare Festival. Marc Alaimo, recently returned from a national Shakespearean tour, plays Mephistopheles, and the director of the company, Johanna Setzer, appears as Gretchen, the role in which she made her debut in Europe.

FAUST may be seen in Central Park at 8:15 p.m. on the evenings of June 10th, 14th and 17th, and in Forest Park, Queens, June 23rd and 30th.

"YOUNG ARTISTS IN PROSPECT PARK"

A unique New York City event, sponsored by the Center for Urban Education in cooperation with Thomas P. F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks, and officials of the New York City Board of Education will be held at the Long Meadow in Prospect Park on Wednesday, June 8, 1966, from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M. (rain date Friday, June 10).

Great public interest, aroused by the recent art day sponsored by the Museum of Contemporary Crafts with the New York City Parks Department in Central Park, encouraged the organizers of the forthcoming event to extend this program of parks and art. Bringing children to a natural out-of-school situation will stimulate the principles learned in the classroom. In addition, this demonstration of how the park can be used in an educational way should project future possibilities: schools, neighborhood and civic groups may want to expand the use of the parks as a resource in a variety of ways.

Three hundred children will be brought to Prospect Park, which is in its centennial year, where they will be provided with paints, brushes and palettes. Canvas will be stretched over a wide area, each child having a section for himself.

The Center for Urban Education is a research and development organization organized to contribute knowledge to the strengthening and improvement of educational services of all kinds and at all levels within urban society. As such, it sees the development of art resources in an educational context, as a contributing factor to the strengthening of perception, curiosity, and talent in children.

MAMMOTH PARTY-IN-THE-PARK FOR ALL NEW YORKERS WILL LAUNCH GUGGENHEIM MEMORIAL CONCERTS, ANNOUNCES COMMISSIONER HOVING.

Costumes, Dancing, Refreshments to Evoke Turn-of-Century Mood

A mammoth "Party in the Park" for all New Yorkers will launch the 49th season of Guggenheim Memorial Concerts by the Goldman Band on Wednesday evening, June 22nd, it was announced today by New York City Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving.

At 8:30 P.M. Mayor John Lindsay will watch bandmaster Richard Franko Goldman take up the baton and lead the 53-man band in the opening number of this first Central Park concert of the season. From the start of the concert, the Central Park Mall area will be transformed into a turn-of-the-century outdoor party for all of New York.

Civic dignitaries will be invited to attend in costumes of the early 1900's and it is hoped that many of the public will come in attire of the period when the first Guggenheim Memorial Concerts were presented in Central Park.

In keeping with the nostalgic mood of this "Party in the Park", food and beverage will be served at prices of 50 years ago. Zum-Zum will provide their celebrated weiners at 5¢ apiece. Rheingold Beer will be on tap at 5¢ a glass. Pepsi-Cola will be sold at 5¢, and 5¢ Good Humor ice cream will be sold at the many refreshment stands set up for the crowds. At the concert's conclusion, at approximately 10.00 P. M., dancing will begin -- from folk to the latest variation of the frug -- and will continue until midnight.

The "Party in the Park," inaugurating the 1966 summer season of free Guggenheim Memorial Concerts in the city's Central, Prospect and East River Parks, is designed "to encourage New Yorkers' use of their parks and to demonstrate how, through public participation, the parks can become the delightful, safe, recreation and relaxation centers they were meant to be", Mr. Hoving said. "For years now we have been telling tourists that New York is a Summer Festival. This has been true for our visitors, but how about New Yorkers themselves? We hope that all of New York will join in this gala party on the first evening of summer and discover for themselves the pleasures of our parks. Only by making total use of these parks can New Yorkers call them their own."

Mr. Hoving pointed out that the Goldman Band, which has played the Guggenheim Memorial Concerts for the past 48 years, is the foremost professional band in the United States today. "In this jet age it is almost a paradox that the residents of a bustling city like New York are able to combine the pleasure of a band concert with the relaxation of a leisurely summer evening outdoors -- all free."

Conductor Richard Franko Goldman, whose father founded the Goldman Band in 1911 stated that the concerts are planned for all of New York's music lovers. "Our repertoire ranges from marches to specially commissioned contemporary works, folk music, light classics and popular musical comedy hits. For example, one of the audience's favorites," he said, "is our 'West Side Story' medley."

The free concerts, which attract thousands each summer, are presented by The Daniel and Florence Guggenheim Foundation as "an annual gift to the people of the City of New York in memory of Daniel and Florence Guggenheim."

This year's Guggenheim Memorial Concerts, 40 in all, will be given on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday evenings at the Mall in Central Park, on Saturday evenings at the Prospect Park Music Grove, and on Thursday evenings at the East River Park Amphitheatre. All concerts begin at 8:30 P.M.

Another in a series of vest-pocket park openings will take place on Friday, June 17th at 4.00 P.M., Parks Commissioner Thomas Hoving announced today. The park, at 173-175 Lefferts Place, is named in honor of the late Joe Weinstein, former Chairman of the Board and founder of J. W. Mays Department Stores.

The park is a joint project of the Department of Parks, the Center for Community Improvement of the Department of City and Regional Planning of Pratt Institute, the Lefferts Place Block Association and Family Circle Association, and the Central Brooklyn Coordinating Council. Development of this vest-pocket park has been financed by a $10,000 gift from J. W. Mays Department Stores through their Chairman of the Board and President, Major Max L. Shulman.

The Pratt Institute Center for Community Improvement, through Ron Shiffman, has undertaken responsibility for the local coordination of the construction of the Joe Weinstein Neighborhood Park. M. Paul Friedberg, a prominent landscape architect, designed the park in close consultation with the neighborhood block organizations. Mrs. Julie North Chelminski, Assistant to Parks Commissioner Hoving, coordinated services provided by the four government agencies that cooperated in building the park: the Departments of Sanitation, Highways, Real Estate and Parks, as well as overall activities of all groups and individuals who made possible the Joe Weinstein Neighborhood Park.

Supervision of construction of the vest-pocket park was undertaken by the architect and by the Pratt Institute Center. The labor force was recruited in the local community. A unique aspect of this park's construction was that the non-professional labor worked from a model of the park design on the site rather than from construction plans and drawings. While the park was built primarily out of new materials, the bricks found in excavating the site were used for paving in some areas.

The Central Brooklyn Coordinating Council has submitted a proposal to the Economic Opportunity Committee for a summer recreation program. If funded, the Council will be able to provide staffing of the park. Ongoing maintenance will become the responsibility of the local block associations.

6/16/66
Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving will present awards to 11 Greenwich Village Civic leaders and six neighborhood civic organizations at the dedication ceremonies for the new Abingdon Square Playground on Saturday, June 18th at 11 A.M. The awards will consist of bronzed sand pails. The Abingdon Square Playground is located at West 11th, Hudson and Bleecker Streets.

The dedication ceremonies were organized by the West Village Nursery School in cooperation with the Department of Parks.

Among the speakers will be Greenwich Village civic leaders Ruth Wittenberg and Anthony Dapolito, who will chronicle the decade-long struggle to obtain the site of the Abingdon Square Playground and to have its design reflect local needs; Mrs. Dorothy Kimball, President of the West Village Nursery School; Mrs. Carol Greitzer, Vice President of the Council for Parks and Playgrounds and Democratic District Leader; and Parks Commissioner Hoving.

The Abingdon Square Playground is one of the milestones in the city-wide opposition that has been growing in recent years against the 1980's standardized designs of neighborhood parks. Commissioner Hoving will tell Villagers assembled at the Abingdon Square Playground dedication that this playground "does not represent what we are doing now in playground design but marks a halfway point to where we are now".

Commissioner Hoving noted that present Parks Department policy has community representatives meeting directly with the architect or landscape architect designing the playground facility "before pencil is set to paper". Said Commissioner Hoving, "If this policy had been followed as Abingdon Square was being designed, many of you here would have been spared the years of guerilla warfare over such little but important items as the shape of a bench or a lighting fixture".

A series of recorded lunch hour concerts will be presented at the boathouse at 110th Street and Central Park North from 11:45 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. daily.

Presented by News Voice International in cooperation with the Department of Parks, the program will feature concerts with known and unknown Negro and Puerto Rican artists.

6/16/66
The Department of Parks Marionette Theatre, now in its 26th year, will delight youngsters and their parents with city-wide performances of "Happy the Humbug" during the summer months.

Thomas P.F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks, announced today that free performances are scheduled on weekdays at various park locations so that maximum audiences can enjoy it.

The show will be featured at the Manhattan sites listed below through July 8. It next will appear in the Bronx, July 11 - July 25; in Queens from July 26 through August 9; in Brooklyn from August 10 - August 25; and in Richmond from August 26 through September 2.

The 110 paintings, representing 110 different artists, selected from all parts of the city, also included entries from Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Florida, New Jersey and California.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving announced today that William Maurer, a young architect who received his M.A. in Architecture from Harvard in 1962, is the first prize winner of an architectural competition for a prototype refreshment kiosk for Central Park. This is the first architectural competition held by the Department of Parks since 1907 and the first of the Lindsay Administration.

Mr. Maurer's winning design brings him a prize of $2,000 which includes the design contract for the kiosk that will be built. The competition was sponsored jointly by the Department of Parks, the Horn and Hardart Company and the New York, Brooklyn and Bronx chapters of the American Institute of Architects.

Mr. Maurer was born in New York City in 1937 and graduated from Pratt Institute in 1960. His award was presented to him by William J. Curtis, President of Horn and Hardart, at the Parks Department headquarters in the Arsenal in Central Park on Tuesday July 19th, 1966.

At the award presentation, Commissioner Hoving said that "the primary object of competitions in architecture is to bring to public notice fresh young talent such as Mr. Maurer." Said Commissioner Hoving, "a secondary objective in competitions is to create a certain tension or controversy about the elements of design so that the public becomes educated in the finer points of architecture."
and begins to demand better designs in their public spaces and buildings.

"A second prize of $350 is awarded to Wallace J. Toscano and David Specter, AIA, of New York City for their imaginative plastic domed kiosk design, "said Commissioner Hoving. Mr. Toscano and Mr. Specter were presented their award by Robert Kaplan, President of the Bronx chapter of the AIA which had donated $250 toward the competition.

"The third prize, of $150 "Commissioner Hoving announced, "is awarded to Leon J. Haft and Steve Oles of Cambridge, Massachusetts for their refreshing design of a kiosk with a suspended canopy mounted on four standards." The third prize was presented to the winners by Donald Weston, President of the Brooklyn chapter of the AIA which donated $250 toward the competition.

At the awards ceremony, Commissioner Hoving thanked Max O. Urbahn, President of the New York chapter of the AIA for its advice and assistance in the preparation of the competition. The NY-AIA furnished Edward Knowles, AIA, as Professional Advisor Mr. Knowles wrote and administered the competition program.

Mr. Maurer's winning entry in the competition is understood to be a "preliminary design" for the kiosk that will actually be built at a cost of approximately $12,000 by Horn and Hardart in Central Park. Arthur Rosenblatt, AIA, Design Consultant to Commissioner Hoving and the Horn and Hardart planning division will oversee the preparation of working drawings. The refreshment kiosk will be operated by Horn and Hardart.

(The Commissioner's opening remarks on the New York City Building are attached)

TEXT OF REMARKS BY PARKS COMMISSIONER THOMAS P.F. HOVENING AT THE OPENING OF THE NEW YORK CITY BUILDING AND ICE SKATING RINK
AT FLUSHING MEADOW PARK - THURSDAY, JULY 21, 1966

I would like to quote from one of Thomas Carlyle's essays:

"Alas, how like an old osseous fragment,
A broken blackened shinbone of the old dead ages,
This black ruin looks out, not yet covered by the soil;
Still indicating what a once gigantic Life lies buried there;
It is dead now, and dumb; but was alive once and spake."

In the midst of the blackened fragments of the Worlds Fair site
a new and wonderful thing has come into being, an all-year-round skating rink! With his usual and ungrudging generosity Robert Moses will also donate a hockey dasher, or as I know it - hockey boards, without which there can be no hockey and therefore no pursuit of a sport as vigorous and thrilling as any ever devised for the gleam and glitter of a smooth surface of ice.

I am delighted to be working with Chairman Moses again. There is something very stimulating about a see-saw relationship, especially when it is your turn to be up in the air. However, there is a more productive means of doing things, namely cooperation. Two agencies working together for a third party, in this case the people of New York, is a marvelous sight to behold.

On behalf of Mayor Lindsay I am happy to accept this building and its facilities because there has been cooperation on both sides.
Chairman Moses, that prime conspirator for recreation, has taken the capital expenditures upon his authority and the City has agreed to pay for its maintenance and operation. So, as you can see, this project is for once almost a balanced one.

I would therefore like to extend my deep and sincere gratitude and admiration to my venerable f

TEXT OF REMARKS BY PARKS COMMISSIONER THOMAS P.F. HOVING AT THE
AT FLUSHING MEADOW PARK + THURSDAY, JULY 21, 1966

I would like to quote from one of Thomas Carlyle's essays:

"Alas, how like an old osseous fragment,
A broken blackened shinbone of the old dead ages,
This black ruin looks out, not yet covered by the soil,
Still indicating what a once gigantic Life lies buried there!
It is dead now, and dumb; but was alive once and spoke."

In the midst of the blackened fragments of the Worlds Fair site
a new and wonderful thing has come into being, an all-year-round skating rink! With his usual and ungrudging generosity Robert Moses will also donate a hockey dasher, or as I know it - hockey boards, without which there can be no hockey and therefore no pursuit of a sport as vigorous and thrilling as any ever devised for the gleam and glitter of a smooth surface of ice.

I am delighted to be working with Chairman Moses again. There is something very stimulating about a see-saw relationship, especially when it is your turn to be up in the air. However, there is a more productive means of doing things, namely cooperation. Two agencies working together for a third party, in this case the people of New York,
is a marvelous sight to behold.

On behalf of Mayor Lindsay I am happy to accept this building
and its facilities because there has been cooperation on both sides.
Chairman Moses, that prime conspirator for recreation, has taken the capital expenditures upon his authority and the City has agreed to pay for its maintenance and operation. So, as you can see, this project is for once almost a balanced one.

I would therefore like to extend my deep and sincere gratitude and admiration to my venerable friend, the Chairman of the richest agency in the City of New York.

Gotham's youngsters will be honored by New York City's Park Department on Wednesday (August 24th) at a free entertainment in Central Park, Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving announced today (Thursday, July 28) at the Arsenal in Central Park. Batman, Adam West, and his partner, Robin, Bert Ward, will fly in from California to award citations to youngsters from the metropolitan area who have been nominated as being representative good citizens in their own localities.

"The salute is intended to demonstrate the City's appreciation of its young people," Commissioner Hoving said. "We can't possibly single out every youngster who has made a contribution to their local community but we are asking youth organizations such as the P.A.L., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Head Start programs and many more to nominate a representative from their groups to be cited on the 24th. Of course, all the area's youngsters, whether nominees or not, are invited to the party in the Park."

In addition to Batman and Robin, in full costume, the Central Park Festivities will include music and entertainment. Nominees will be photographed with the masked law enforcer and will also be guests on Sonny Fox's television program "Wonderama" seen on WNEW-TV (Channel 5).
Following the proceedings in Central Park, Batman and Robin will make some unannounced trips to other Park Department facilities, accompanied by Commissioner Hoving, to greet handicapped children who will not be able to join the gala party in the Park.

Further information may be obtained by writing to P.O. Box Number 3000, Grand Central Station, New York 10017.

Mr. Maurer's winning design brings him a prize of $2,000 which includes the design contract for the kiosk that will be built. The competition was sponsored jointly by the Department of Parks, the Horn and Hardart Company and the New York, Brooklyn and Bronx chapters of the American Institute of Architects.

Mr. Maurer was born in New York City in 1937 and graduated from Pratt Institute in 1960. His award was presented to him by William J. Curtis, President of Horn and Hardart, at the Parks Department headquarters in the Arsenal in Central Park on Tuesday July 19th, 1966.

At the award presentation, Commissioner Hoving said that "the primary object of competitions in architecture is to bring to public notice fresh young talent such as Mr. Maurer." Said Commissioner Hoving, "a secondary objective in competitions is to create a certain tension or controversy about the elements of design so that the public becomes educated in the finer points of architecture.
and begins to demand better designs in their public spaces and buildings.

"A second prize of $350 is awarded to Wallace J. Toscano and David Specter, AIA, of New York City for their imaginative plastic domed kiosk design," said Commissioner Hoving. Mr. Toscano and Mr. Specter were presented their award by Robert Kaplan, President of the Bronx chapter of the AIA which had donated $250 toward the competition.

"The third prize, of $150 "Commissioner Hoving announced, "is awarded to Leon J. Haft and Steve Oles of Cambridge, Massachusetts for their refreshing design of a kiosk with a suspended canopy mounted on four standards." The third prize was presented to the winners by Donald Weston, President of the Brooklyn chapter of the AIA which donated $250 toward the competition.

At the awards ceremony, Commissioner Hoving thanked Max O. Urbahn, President of the New York chapter of the AIA for its advice and assistance in the preparation of the competition. The NY-AIA furnished Edward Knowles, AIA, as Professional Advisor Mr. Knowles wrote and administered the competition program.

Mr. Maurer's winning entry in the competition is understood to be a "preliminary design" for the kiosk that will actually be built at a cost of approximately $12,000 by Horn and Hardart in Central Park. Arthur Rosenblatt, AIA, Design Consultant to Commissioner Hoving and the Horn and Hardart planning division will oversee the preparation of working drawings. The refreshment kiosk will be operated by Horn and Hardart.

Hoving dedicates modern playground in West Village

Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving will present awards to 11 Greenwich Village Civic leaders and six neighborhood civic organizations at the dedication ceremonies for the new Abingdon Square Playground on Saturday, June 18th at 11 A.M. The awards will consist of bronzed sand pails. The Abingdon Square Playground is located at West 11th, Hudson and Bleecker Streets.

The dedication ceremonies were organized by the West Village Nursery School in cooperation with the Department of Parks.

Among the speakers will be Greenwich Village civic leaders Ruth Wittenberg and Anthony Dapolito, who will chronicle the decade-long struggle to obtain the site of the Abingdon Square Playground and to have its design reflect local needs; Mrs. Dorothy Kimball, President of the West Village Nursery School; Mrs. Carol Greitzer, Vice President of the Council for Parks and Playgrounds and Democratic District Leader; and Parks Commissioner Hoving.

The Abingdon Square Playground is one of the milestones in the city-wide opposition that has been growing in recent years against the 1930's standardized designs of neighborhood parks. Commissioner Hoving will tell Villagers assembled at the Abingdon Square Playground dedication that this playground "does not represent what we are doing now in playground design but marks a halfway point to where we are now".

Commissioner Hoving noted that present Parks Department policy has community representatives meeting directly with the architect or landscape architect designing the playground facility "before pencil is set to paper". Said Commissioner Hoving, "If this policy had been followed as Abingdon Square was being designed, many of you here would have been spared the years of guerilla warfare over such little but important items as the shape of a bench or a lighting fixture".

The Second Annual Golden Age Art Exhibition

More than 500 original oil paintings were submitted this June in the Second Annual Golden Age Art Exhibition, held at the Society of Illustrators, 128 East 63rd. Street, New York, New York. This competition, sponsored by the Grand Street Boys' Association and conducted by the Recreation Division of the Department of Parks, was open to any living artist who was at least 55 years of age at the time the painting was executed, provided it was executed since January 1, 1962.

The top prize winner was Peter Bennedsen, a 64 year old retired baker from Woodside, Long Island, who has been a amateur painter nearly all of his life. He received $100.00, a trophy and the title of "Golden Age Painter of the Year". His painting entitled "Family", depicted in friendly, warm, modern colors, was the unanimous choice of the judges.

This year's runner up was Mrs. Ethel Arons, a 71 year old artist from the Bronx, New York. For her painting "The Red Horse" she received $50.00 dollars and a trophy.

Nat Greene's painting "Montparnasse", executed in a vigorous fashion, brought the 70 year old Manhattan artist third place, $25.00, and a trophy.

The 110 paintings, selected from all parts of the city, also included entries from Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Florida, New Jersey and California.

The average age of the exhibitors was 70, with 15 artists 80 years of age or older. The oldest artist was Fred Buck, age 87. The oldest prize winner was 81 year old Sophie Berliner.

At least 16 Golden Age Centers were represented, with their entries winning some of the most coveted awards. "YOUNG ARTISTS IN PROSPECT PARK"

A unique New York City event, sponsored by the Center for Urban Education in cooperation with Thomas P. F. Hoving, Commissioner of Parks, and officials of the New York City Board of Education will be held at the Long Meadow in Prospect Park on Wednesday, June 8, 1966, from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M. (rain date Friday, June 10).

Great public interest, aroused by the recent art day sponsored by the Museum of Contemporary Crafts with the New York City Parks Department in Central Park, encouraged the organizers of the forthcoming event to extend this program of parks and art. Bringing children to a natural out-of-school situation will stimulate the principles learned in the classroom. In addition, this demonstration of how the park can be used in an educational way should project future possibilities: schools, neighborhood and civic groups may want to expand the use of the parks as a resource in a variety of ways.

Three hundred children will be brought to Prospect Park, which is in its centennial year, where they will be provided with paints, brushes and palettes. Canvas will be stretched over a wide area, each child having a section for himself.

The Center for Urban Education is a research and development organization organized to contribute knowledge to the strengthening and improvement of educational services of all kinds and at all levels within urban society. As such, it sees the development of art resources in an educational context, as a contributing factor to the strengthening of perception, curiosity, and talent in children.

Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving announces that the Department of Parks, through the sponsorship of Pepsi-Cola, will conduct the 1966 Amateur Youth Talent Festival, open to boys and girls through the ages of seventeen. The contest will be divided into two groups: Group A, for boys and girls who have not reached their thirteenth birthday by July 10th; and Group B, for those who have reached their thirteenth birthday, but have not yet reached their seventeenth birthday by July 10th.

Winners will be chosen in the following categories: 1) Individual Singer; 2) Individual Instrumentalist; 3) Group Singing, restricted to five members; and 4) Group instrumental. The contest will involve four competitive levels. First, the District Contest, July 30, Second, the Borough Contest, August 6th, and last, the City-wide Finals which will be held at the Mall in Central Park, at 10:00 a.m., August 13.

Prizes will be awarded to winners at all levels. In the City-wide contest, trophies for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place will be given to the winners in each classification.

The following rules are pertinent to the contest: All acts must be under four minutes; those in excess will be disqualified. Only amateurs may compete. Contestants must compete in their borough of residence. Only the first-place winners in each borough will be eligible for the City-wide competition. Contestants may enter no more than one classification.

As a special award, a partial college scholarship will be given to the most outstanding act, if individual; if the winner is a group act, each member of the group will receive a United States savings bond.

Entry blanks are available at Park Department playgrounds and borough offices.

TEXT OF REMARKS BY PARKS COMMISSIONER THOMAS P.F. HOVING AT THE
OPENING OF THE NEW YORK CITY BUILDING AND ICE SKATING RINK
AT FLUSHING MEADOW PARK, THURSDAY, JULY 21, 1966

I would like to quote from one of Thomas Carlyle's essays:

"Alas, how like an old osseous fragment,
A broken blackened shinbone of the old dead ages,
This black ruin looks out, not yet covered by the soil;
Still indicating what a once gigantic Life lies buried there!
It is dead now, and dumb; but was alive once and spake."

In the midst of the blackened fragments of the World's Fair site
a new and wonderful thing has come into being, an all-year-round skating rink! With his usual and ungrudging generosity Robert Moses will also donate a hockey dasher, or as I know it - hockey boards, without which there can be no hockey and therefore no pursuit of a sport as vigorous and thrilling as any ever devised for the gleam and glitter of a smooth surface of ice.

I am delighted to be working with Chairman Moses again. There is something very stimulating about a see-saw relationship, especially when it is your turn to be up in the air. However, there is a more productive means of doing things, namely cooperation. Two agencies working together for a third party, in this case the people of New York,
is a marvelous sight to behold.

On behalf of Mayor Lindsay I am happy to accept this building
and its facilities because there has been cooperation on both sides.
Chairman Moses, that prime conspirator for recreation, has taken the capital expenditures upon his authority and the City has agreed to pay for its maintenance and operation. So, as you can see, this project is for once almost a balanced one.

I would therefore like to extend my deep and sincere gratitude and admiration to my venerable friend, the Chairman of the richest agency in the City of New York.

The Department of Parks, with the assistance of the Community Council of Greater New York, was very fortunate in being able to acquire the former Girl Scout property known as "High Rock Park" as a means of retaining the so-called "Green Belt" which runs through the center of Staten Island.

During the past summer of 1965, through the cooperation of the Staten Island Museum and the Committee for High Rock, the Department was able to conduct a nature study program for day-camp groups and individuals and families.

Some professional staff was provided by the Department of Parks and supplemented by the means of a private grant which provided the service of knowledgeable people in the areas of science and nature studies.

It is essential that High Rock Park continue to be maintained and developed as a city-wide resource available to all for nature conservation.

Additional property has been acquired by the City of New York for park use adjacent to the original acres. Part of this land—it is hoped—will be developed as a parking lot for the buses and private cars which will be transporting interested nature lovers to the site.

Very significant in the development of High Rock is the grant of $96,000 by the Federal government to the Staten Island Institute of Arts and Sciences for a cooperative conservation education program involving the Staten Island Institute and the Board of Education.

Through this grant, High Rock will have the advantage of a full time administrator and necessary equipment for developing a comprehensive presentation to the public. It is hoped that eventually High Rock will serve additionally as a training center for counsellors, education guides, etc.

/From July 14, 1965 to January 2, 1966

Beginning last summer, for the first time 7,195 people were attracted to the beauties of one of the last outposts of natural land in the Metropolitan area.

Mrs. John V. Lindsay, Park Commissioner Thomas P. Hoving, other city officials and a host of delighted children will be on hand Wednesday, June 1st for the 11:00 A.M. opening of the newly remodeled playground in Carl Schurz Park. The playground, featuring such modern equipment as a moon rocket complete with a bright orange nose-cone, a shiny red fire engine, a "fantasy village" and a geodesic play dome were installed as part of a program to renovate the playground.

Speeches and the brief ribbon cutting ceremony will climax more than three years of work by a group of neighborhood parents. The Committee, affiliated with the Council for Parks and Playgrounds Inc., headed by Mrs. Steven J. Hyman and Mrs. William Prager, Jr., led a determined campaign to create a safer park, a park with more modern and up to date equipment and an enlarged playground. "Since 1934, nothing had been done in this playground and we felt it was up to the City to take action," said a spokesman for the parents' group. "We employed every means from petitions, to neighborhood meetings, to contacting local civic groups and working directly with the Department of Parks until the City finally appropriated funds for this project."

The Committee hoped that their efforts would be an incentive for other groups to work towards safer and more modern playgrounds in New York City.

This pioneering sports festival is the first step in Mayor Lindsay's program for organizing national youth games, and will feature three teams each of 92 boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 15 years from Boston, Washington D.C., and New York City, who will compete at Downing Stadium, Randall's Island on Saturday, August 20, 1966 at 2 P.M.

The first six winners in each borough event will be eligible to compete in the city Championships to be held on August 6 at Downing Stadium.

The Tri-City Competition and the New York City Competition are sponsored by Old London Foods Company in co-operation with Mayor John V. Lindsay's office, the Board of Education's "Operation Champ" program and the Recreation Division of the Department of Parks.

Commissioner Hoving stated "The teams of youths under 15 years of age who will compete in the Sports Festival will be treated as "Olympic Stars" and will have a week end on the town, with a tour of the city, attend a baseball game, and be guests at a special awards presentation breakfast.

"Any requests?" "Gotta special tune?" This is what Central Park denizens will hear beginning today when Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving and Bernard Rellin, Chairman of Rheingold Breweries, launch a mobile player piano with pianist in Central Park.

The roving player piano was built by Rheingold Breweries and the pianist provided by Rheingold at the request of Parks Commissioner Hoving last spring. The piano will move into all parts of Central Park along the paths and will play as a player piano when moving, but may be played manually when the cart is stationary. It will operate Monday through Friday from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M.

Parks Commissioner Hoving and Mr. Rellin will introduce the player piano at a press conference in front of the Children's Zoo in Central Park off 65th Street at 10 A.M. on Tuesday, July 26th.

The mobile piano is one more feature in Commissioner Hoving's continuing campaign to reintroduce New York City's parks to the people. Rheingold Breweries are the sponsors of another source of delight for New Yorkers in the Central Park Music Festival at the Wollman Rink.

The Rheingold moving piano unit was made by Poly Tech Display Corporation, 245 East 63rd Street, New York City. It is 12 feet long, 6 feet wide, colored red and white, and it cost approximately $7,500.

New York's millions, many of whom have never been closer to the sport than their TV screens, are invited to enjoy one of the world's outstanding water ski productions, it was announced Friday by Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving.

According to Mr. Hoving, there will be one performance of the "Mercury Water Ski Festival" on Saturday afternoon, September 10th, on the Central Park Lake (near 72nd Street) and another the following afternoon on Prospect Park Lake in Brooklyn.

No admission fee will be charged for either performance.

"The water ski show is in keeping with our policy of providing a maximum amount of healthful fun and wholesome entertainment for the greatest number of people to enjoy in our parks", the Commissioner stated.

With costs borne by the Kiekhaefer Corp. of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, maker of Mercury outboard engines, the show is being produced by Tommy Bartlett who has staged water ski hits in every State except Alaska and at several World Fairs.

Bartlett Water Ski Shows have also been a permanent entertainment feature for many years at Wisconsin Dells. Talent is said to be the best available and represents a cross-section of the United States.

According to Commissioner Hoving, the production to be presented in Central and Prospect Parks will be considerably longer and will feature more diversification than the shows that thrilled millions at recent Fairs.

In addition to usual and unusual water ski acts, the Mercury Festival will feature a "Jumping Circus"; consisting of boats that fly through the air, a sure-fire crowd-pleaser, especially with youngsters.
"The program of eighteen acts is aimed at every member of the family", Bartlett stated. "There will be clowns to please small fry, ballet for the ladies, and thrills for teen-agers, along with comedy and exhibitions of skill for all."

Both the Central Park and Prospect Park water ski shows will be visible from long stretches of shoreline, with spectators invited to seat themselves, picnic-style, on their own blankets or cushions.
The first of five plus one "Events in Open Air" which will "happen" in Riverside Park at 115th Street on Wednesday, August 3rd at 2 P.M., is a small-scale sneak preview of the series, it was announced today by Parks Commissioner Thomas P. F. Hoving.

The "happenings", as they are sometimes called, are "experimental public games, restricted to no one, and are designed to create situations that probe the environment we live in by the six (or seven) senses". The events are planned by five community parks, one in each Borough and a "plus one", which is a two-day unprecedented-type of festival in Central Park. Others are in preparation. The events consist of experimentation by the community with space and shape, motion and time, plus color and light. The media of expression and discovery range from improvised grid paintings, with each participant contributing in crayon, paint, or construction paper to communal creations; to a neighborhood collage in which photographs of people and places in the neighborhood will be mounted and displayed along with unrestricted scribbles.

"Events in Open Air" is sponsored by George Delacorte in cooperation with the Department of Parks.

The following organizations provided the materials which were required to make "Events in Open Air" possible:

SUNDAY AUGUST 7, 1966

Because of the extended dry spell this summer, some of New York City's 550,000 street trees may die from lack of water.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving requested that the public aid in preventing the loss of street trees by following this procedure:

1. Loosen the soil around the tree with a spading fork. (This will permit moisture to seep to the tree roots)

2. Add five pails full of water to the soil each week during dry periods.

Commissioner Robert D. Clarke of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity has granted approval of the use of the water and stated "Because of the quantity of water contained in five pails is insignificant in light of the fact that it is vital to the continued life and growth of the trees and it is consistent with the present policy of permitting use of water for private lawns and gardens six hours per week. Trees not only provide beauty to city streets but also furnish shade to many of our citizens during hot weather."

Because of the extended dry spell this summer, some of New York City's 550,000 street trees may die from lack of water.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving requested that the public aid in preventing the loss of street trees by following this procedure:

1. Loosen the soil around the tree with a spading fork. (This will permit moisture to seep to the tree roots)

2. Add five pails full of water to the soil each week during dry periods.

Commissioner Robert D. Clarke of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity has granted approval of the use of the water and stated "Because of the quantity of water contained in five pails is insignificant in light of the fact that it is vital to the continued life and growth of the trees and it is consistent with the present policy of permitting use of water for private lawns and gardens six hours per week. A unique city-wide "flying saucer" competition for children in parks in all five boroughs was announced today by Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving.

Teams of boys and girls up to age 16 will compete in a massive "Awake" Gyro Disc Derby by tossing the orange plastic disc which resembles a flying saucer.

The climax of the Derby will be for the "Awake" Gyro Disc Championship at the Sheep Meadow in Central Park at 10:30 A.M. on August 25. Commissioner Hoving will toss out the first disc to signal the start of the Derby finals.

Commissioner Hoving said the "Awake" Gyro Disc Derby is being held through the cooperation of the Birds Eye Division of General Foods Corporation. Birds Eye has donated 8,000 "Awake" Gyro Discs to be distributed to competitors throughout the city and for use as recreational equipment in playgrounds by the Department of Parks. Two thousand of the discs will be given to early arrivers at the Central Park championship along with balloons and lollipops.

"This is another feature in the Department's continuing campaign to reintroduce New York City's parks to the people and to provide wholesome fun for the city's youngsters," Commissioner Hoving said.
The "Awake" Gyro Disc Derby begins with local competitions at all Department of Parks facilities throughout the city during the week of August 8. The youngsters will compete in four age groups: Class A—boys and girls up to 8 years of age; Class B—girls aged 9 to 14; Class C—boys aged 9 to 13; Class D—boys aged 14 to 16.

Winning teams in the local competitions then will vie on August 18 for Borough Championships in the Bronx at Mullaly Playground, Brooklyn at the 11th Street Bandstand in Prospect Park, Manhattan at the Sheep Meadow in Central Park, Richmond at Clove Lakes Park, and Queens at Pomonok Playground. Winners and runners-up in each borough will receive engraved trophies which have been provided by Birds Eye.

On August 25, two "professionals" will demonstrate the art of throwing the discs before the winning teams face off in the Sheep Meadow for the "Awake" Gyro Disc Championship and transistor radio prizes which were donated by Birds Eye.

The prizes will be awarded by Commissioner Hoving and Mr. Roy W. Stevens, Birds Eye National Sales Manager.

Parks Commissioner Thomas P.F. Hoving announced today a proposal for a hiking and biking trail through the Greenbelt of Staten Island. In his endorsement of a proposal prepared by Staten Island civic and planning groups, Commissioner Hoving said that "this brochure outlining the Olmsted Trailway is the most exciting plan in the recent history of the conservation movement."

Commissioner Hoving said that he was "prepared to fight for it (the Olmsted Trailway) with all the weapons available to me in this Arsenal—and elsewhere."

"There is a sad phenomenon going on in this country today," said Commissioner Hoving. "It seems that the car has become more important than the people whose servant it is supposed to be. Facilities for cars, from gigantic parking lots to super highways, are eating up the land by a million acres a year. Obviously, "said the Parks Commissioner, the greatest concentration of concrete and asphalt is in the city and its approaches. Equally, people live in this city. Are they supposed, like the Ailanthus, to struggle for survival by thrusting themselves through cracks in the hardtop?", he asked. Commissioner Hoving said that this "conflict of interests...must be resolved—on the side of human beings."

Commissioner Hoving said that "Staten Island is the only borough of New York that is still semi-bucolic. Future generations will ask of us why we did not have the vision of Olmsted when he created Central Park and urged this great linear park in Staten Island."

The Olmsted Trailway was proposed by Citizens

The Olmsted Trailway was inspired by Frederick Law Olmsted, who, with Calvert Vaux, won the competition for the plan for Central Park in 1858 and in 1871, proposed that "This ridge," these "steep and broken declivities" of Staten Island's Greenbelt be made into a park "four miles in length".

The present Olmsted Trailway proposal calls for a linear park along the ridge of the Greenbelt, 300 feet wide along its 4.7 mile length. The Trailway lies in the mapped right-of-way of Section One of the Richmond Parkway. The Mayor's Transportation Council is currently studying alternate routes for Section One.

The Olmsted Trailway would include 10 miles of hiking trails, 5.6 miles of bikeway, bridle paths, boating, fishing, picnicking facilities, access to historic Richmond-town and an Arboretum.

Assistance for the development of the Trailway would be sought from the Land and Water Conservation Fund of the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation; from the Open Space Land Program of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and (for development of a university-oriented environmental workshop) Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965. It is proposed that maintenance of the trails be largely undertaken by private initiative as had the Long Trail in Vermont been cared for since 1931. Private funds to match city funds will be sought for a comprehensive site analysis and for preparing final plans.

The Trailway would run through "oak, beach, sweet gum and hickory, past glacial ponds, past scouting and day camps and the High Rock Nature Conservation Center." It would "Shelve across the side of Bucks Hollow and into the woods of Lighthouse Hill, then drops below Latourette Golf Course to the fenways of Richmond Creek." At Todt Hill, the Trailway would attain "the highest tidewater elevation on the Atlantic seaboard south of Mt. Desert, Me.", according to the Olmsted Trailway brochure. The brochure points out that "At only three points, in a distance of nearly five miles is the ridge bisected by road. Elsewhere along its length is a hardwood forest more than three-quarters of a mile wide in certain places; a forest containing the chestnut oak, the mockernut, the sassafras and the ironwood; black haw and choke cherry, cinnamon fern and skunk cabbage, arrowhead and Canada mayflower and trout lily." Wildlife in this area, according to the brochure, ranges "from the heron and pheasant to the muskrat, the opossum and racoon."

Commissioner Hoving announces that another Kite Happening will take place on the Sheep Meadow in Central Park. The time will be from 10 A.M. on. The date is August 14, 1966.

The Happening is to take place for two purposes. One is to emphasize the delights that kite flying can hold for all ages. The Sheep Meadow in Central Park has now been added as another area.

On the day of the Happening, kites will be available to the public. "Go Fly a Kite, Inc." will sell them on the Sheep Meadow.
