The City Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration has notified the State Attorney General and the Port of New York Authority that it must be consulted in regard to proposed actions to prevent oil spills at John F. Kennedy International Airport from polluting Jamaica Bay. The Bay, with its outstanding wildlife refuge, is mapped parkland and under PRCA's jurisdiction.

The notice was given in letters from PRCA Administrator August Heckscher to Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz and Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port Authority.

In his letter to Tobin, Heckscher said: "Since PRCA is the administering agency for Jamaica Bay, I must be apprised of your arrangements (to prevent spills) before they are finalized. Please contact me as soon as you have some definite plans on this matter."

The PA last week, as a result of a law suit brought by Lefkowitz, agreed to take steps to curb oil pollution of the Bay.

Heckscher, who has been leading the fight to block the PA's plans to extend the Airport into Jamaica Bay, told Lefkowitz: "It was with great pleasure that I learned of the Port of New York Authority's decision to stop pumping oil discharged from John F. Kennedy Airport into Jamaica Bay by Dec. 8.

"I have been strongly committed to the preservation of Jamaica Bay as a wildlife preserve. In my opinion, maintenance of the Bay, as a sanctuary, is a matter of primary importance to the City and the State of New York."

"Young Audiences Week" is being declared in recognition of the service provided by the New York Committee of Young Audiences. For the past 20 years, it has presented free musical programs in elementary schools throughout the five boroughs. In the 1969-70 school year, over 1,100 programs featuring professional musicians were presented, the Mayor's Proclamation notes.

Marion Anderson, who is a member of the National Board of Directors for 'Young Audiences', will receive the proclamation following a regular Young Audiences music program. The Abbey Singers, a quintet of concert and opera soloists, will be featured in the program.
Using a dialogue and performance technique, the musicians attempt to lead the children to participate in and discover music.

Mayor Lindsay's proclamation reads, in part:

"In a time when our country's educational system is described as 'joyless,' New York City is particularly fortunate to have Young Audiences bring its joyful message to thousands of our City's children."

CHORAL GROUPS TO HIGHLIGHT
OPENING OF HOLIDAY FESTIVAL

Two hundred boys and girls from the All-City High School Chorus, a Brazilian guitar team, the Fordham University Chorus, and colorful folk dancers will highlight the opening cultural program at New York City's first winter Holiday Festival on Fifth Avenue between 34th and 59th Streets this Sunday, (December 6).

Free Chanukah and Christmas entertainment this Sunday and three consecutive Sundays will be presented by the City Department of Cultural Affairs at two locations along the Avenue; at the plaza of the General Motors building at 58th Street, and at the steps of the New York Public Library at 42nd Street. Groups will also appear at Rockefeller Center.

"By turning Fifth Avenue into a pedestrian mall with traditional holiday entertainment, we hope New Yorkers will once again have an opportunity to come together and share in a festive cultural experience similar to that of "The People Yes!," Commissioner of Cultural Affairs Dore Schary said.

Singing show tunes and Christmas selections, members of the All City High School Chorus will perform at 2:30 p.m. at the General Motors Building. Under the direction of John Motley, the choral group has sung at the 25th anniversary celebration of the United Nations and many other public events.

The New York Slovak Folk Dancers, dressed in authentic regional costumes, will appear at the G.M. plaza, at 2 p.m. Accompanied by an accordionist, the group will perform dances representative of the Czechoslovakian regions.

Dancing with linked swords, the Country Dance and Song Society of America will perform the Sword Dance from Ampleforth, England. In a traditional winter ceremony, the dancers slay a victim whose death represents the end of evil. A clown resurrects the victim symbolizing Spring and the return of a bright new life. The group will invite members of the audience to join it in some dances at the G.M. Plaza at 3:30 p.m.

The La Rocque Bey Youth Ensemble from Harlem will offer African and Afro-American dance and music at the Plaza, at 4 p.m. The ten performers, ranging from 14 to 18 years of age, will be dressed in African dishikis, abubas, and lapers.

The Brazilian guitar team, Los Indios Tabajaras, will strum tunes ranging from primitive tribal music and Latin American favorites to popular songs on the steps of the Public Library, at 2 p.m. The two brothers from the Tabajaras tribe are self-taught musicians who found a guitar in the jungle and in three years have carried their music to four continents.

The colorfully garbed Polish American Folk Dance Group, young Americans enthusiastically practicing the dance of their heritage, will perform at the Library, at 2:30 p.m.

Fordham University Chorus will present an hour of Christmas selections on the Library steps, at 3 p.m.

Similar programs of holiday entertainment have been scheduled at some 20 different locations in the other boroughs during the week of December 18. The borough-wide Holiday Festival is being jointly presented by the Mayor's Office, Parks, Recreational and Cultural Administration and the Economic Development Agency, in cooperation with the Borough Art Councils.

HECKSCHER CALLS HICKEL FIRING
'OUTRAGE' AGAINST CONSERVATION

The firing of Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel "must be judged an outrage against the conservation cause," August Heckscher, the City's Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator (PRCA), declared last night (Saturday).

"This was a man who went out to slay dragons, and now he has himself been cast down," Heckscher said. "However courageous his successor, it will be harder now to take the steps which are required to save irreplaceable natural assets," he continued. New York City has suffered "a blow in Secretary Hickel's dismissal and I believe the nation has, too," he observed.

Heckscher, who is also the City's Parks Commissioner, was the main speaker at a dinner of the New York Society of Architects in the Windsor Ballroom of the Commodore Hotel (speech to be delivered at about 9 p.m.). A member of the State Park Commission for the City of New York, Heckscher was President Kennedy's advisor on the arts.

Heckscher noted that Hickel was a strong supporter of the proposed Gateway National Recreation Area, which will include Breezy Point, Jamaica Bay, islands and beaches in Staten Island and Sandy Hook in New Jersey. The proposal, developed in the Interior Department, was scheduled to be presented by Hickel to Congress next year.

"The Gateway image will not die," Heckscher stated. He added:
"Too many are prepared to keep it alive and to see that it moves through the Congress and toward final realization. We must hope that the new Secretary of the Interior, Congressman Morton, will put Gateway high on his agenda. Even while we deplore the Hickel dismissal, we must push for the achievement of this major project."

In his speech, the PRCA head said:
"I well remember the day in the autumn of 1969 when with Mayor Lindsay and myself, Secretary Hickel walked the marshes and beaches of Breezy Point and the concept of Gateway came alive and seemed to glow in his mind. I recall a few weeks ago a walk with him down a Madison Avenue closed to vehicular traffic for the evening. He caught the excitement of an urban space being used for human purposes. He saw this as something as exciting and hardly less important than a national park.

"Secretary Hickel, about whom we all had doubts at the start, proved himself a true conservationist and a friend of the cities. He showed rare courage in his fight against those whose off-shore oil drilling polluted the California coast; against companies responsible for mercury pollution; and - perhaps most notably and surprisingly - in his readiness to delay the trans-Alaska pipeline which threatens the ecology of millions of square miles of tundra.

"This was a man who went out to slay dragons, and now he has himself been cast down. His firing must be judged an outrage against the conservation cause. For however courageous his successor, it will be harder now to take the steps which are required to save irreplaceable natural assets."

RARE TREE SAVED BY PARKS DEPT.

The construction of a shaft for the third water tunnel in Cedar Hill in Central Park (79th Street east of East Drive) appeared to have doomed a rare acer campsestre, commonly known as an English Hedge Maple or English Field Maple, which was in the construction site. However, the Parks Department took steps to dig, ball, protect and move the tree to a new, safe location outside the construction area. Only one other specimen of this type of tree is in Central Park at 106th Street and the East Drive. In the series of photos, (1) the tree was raised and balled, (2) transported some 300 feet west of its original location, (3) placed in its new location, and (4) made secure. The multiple stemmed tree is 25 feet high and 14 inches in diameter at the base. When the roots were gathered together, they formed a ball 7 feet in diameter. The operation was arranged and supervised by Cornelius O'Shea, the Parks Department's director of horticulture.

HOLIDAY TREES DECORATE NY PARKS FOR 1970 CHRISTMAS SEASON

Thirty bushy Christmas trees, purchased by the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration, will be lit throughout the City on Thursday, Dec. 17, at 5 p.m., the same time Mayor John V. Lindsay lights the official New York City tree at City Hall.

The Canadian spruce trees, ranging from 30 to 55-feet high, will be put up in parks, playgrounds, plazas, a hospital and a golf course throughout the five boroughs: 3 in the Bronx, 7 in Brooklyn, 9 in Manhattan, 9 in Queens and 2 in Staten Island.

PRCA sent representatives to Coaticook and Sherbrook Townships in Quebec, Canada, in early November to select the trees. Cornelius O'Shea, director of horticulture, headed the group of tree experts.

"We are happy to announce the arrival of our traditional holiday trees and look forward to all the tree lighting ceremonies that bring our City together and officially proclaim the 1970 holiday season," said Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher.

The trees are at the following locations:

MANHATTAN
- City Hall Park, Broadway & Murray Street
- Washington Sq. Park, at Washington Arch
- Central Park, Tavern-on-the-Green, 67th St. & West Side Drive
- Mt. Morris Park, 123rd St. & Madison Ave.
- Ft. Tryon Park, Broadway & Dyckman St.

HOLIDAY TREES DECORATE NY PARKS
FOR 1970 CHRISTMAS SEASON

Thirty bushy Christmas trees, purchased by the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration, will be lit throughout the city on Thursday, Dec. 17, at 5 p.m., the same time Mayor John V. Lindsay lights the official New York City tree at City Hall.

The Canadian spruce trees, ranging from 30 to 55-feet high, will be put up in parks, playgrounds, plazas, a hospital and a golf course throughout the five boroughs: 3 in the Bronx, 7 in Brooklyn, 9 in Manhattan, 9 in Queens and 2 in Staten Island.

PRCA sent representatives to Coaticook and Sherbrook Townships in Quebec, Canada, in early November to select the trees. Cornelius O'Shea, director of horticulture, headed the group of tree experts.

"We are happy to announce the arrival of our traditional holiday trees and look forward to all the tree lighting ceremonies that bring our City together and officially proclaim the 1970 holiday season," said Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher.

The trees are at the following locations:

PRCA ANNOUNCES PROGRAM REDUCTIONS
AS PART OF CITY'S ECONOMY DRIVE

The Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration, as part of the City's economy program, today (Mon.) announced reductions of $380,200 in programs throughout its agency.

In making the announcement, PRCA Administrator August Heckscher said: "We are making these reductions after painstaking evaluations involving the leadership of our entire agency. We have made these necessary cuts throughout our Administration. They are affecting our programs in all our areas of interest—parks, recreation, cultural programs, museums, institutions and libraries."

Some of the savings will be realized by closing down indoor swimming pools and outdoor ice skating rinks ahead of schedule next year. In another area, personnel will be assigned to playgrounds later than normal but before the beginning of the school vacation.

The program cuts announced today by Heckscher were:

* Pools—Five of the 11 Park Department indoor pools will close three months earlier this coming spring, saving $28,000. They are four of the agency's seven such pools in Manhattan—Carmine Street, Rutgers Place, West 59th Street and East 23rd Street, and one of Brooklyn's three pools—Metropolitan Avenue. Groups using these pools will be notified early so they can make appropriate alternate arrangements.

* Ice Skating Rinks—All five Park Department rinks will close down in March rather than April. This represents a $51,000 reduction. They are: Mullaly Park, Bronx; Wollman Memorial in Prospect Park, Brooklyn; Wollman Memorial and Lasker Memorial, both in Central Park, Manhattan; and War Memorial in Clove Lakes Park, Staten Island.

* Playgrounds—Summer seasonal playground personnel will be assigned during the latter part of June, rather than early in the month, resulting in a $41,000 cut. However, the recreation leaders will be at the playgrounds before the school vacation period begins.

* Institutions—Five of the cultural institutions which receive City aid through PRCA will have their budgets reduced by a total of $350,200. The cuts will be primarily for research, curatorial and educational programs and, in general, should not affect the days and hours these institutions are open to the public. The reductions are: Metropolitan Museum of Art, $76,700; New York Botanical Garden, $48,700; American Museum of Natural History, $81,200; New York Zoological Society, $67,600; Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, $76,000.

* Libraries—The City's three public library systems will be reduced a total of $380,000. The ways these reductions will be made will be determined by the libraries. Heckscher noted, however, that while some branches may have to limit their hours, he did not anticipate any branches being closed entirely. The reductions are: New York Public Library (Bronx, Manhattan, Staten Island), $161,500; Brooklyn Public Library, $119,700; Queens Public Library, $98,800.

* Other reductions were: New York State Theatre, $20,000; Brooklyn Philharmonic, $5,000; and Queens Symphony, $5,000.

HECKSCHER OPPOSES JFK EXPANSION; URGES SELECTION OF 4TH JETPORT SITE

The only way to preserve Jamaica Bay from expansion of the John F. Kennedy International Airport is to have "all sides once and for all get together and select the location for a fourth jetport."

This was the solution proposed by August Heckscher, the City's Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator, at a legislative hearing this morning (Tues.) The hearing of the Joint Legislative Committee on Environmental Management and Natural Resources was held at the International Hotel at Kennedy Airport.

Heckscher, who has strongly opposed the proposed expansion of the Airport into the Bay, pointed out that "the only reason the Port Authority is looking to the Bay is because agreement has not been reached on a fourth jetport. If the new airport was being built or in operation," he added, "the Port Authority would not be looking for this terrible expansion."

He stated: "I realize the selection of a site for the fourth jetport is not an easy task and there is a great desire to put the inevitable decision off until another term or another official is in office. But we just have to stop this indecision and delay. We cannot let the Bay and Refuge be destroyed just to gain another year or so.

"To destroy this last frontier in New York City just to improve air transportation would be a great crime in itself. But to destroy it only as a temporary measure which at its inception is regarded as only a time-saving device would be a catastrophe of (more) almost unparalleled proportions and one of the darkest days in man's so-called enlightened period."

Heckscher, who is also the City's Parks Commissioner, noted that the Bay "is the last wildlife refuge of its kind, not only in our City and State, but the entire east coast." He said that since the Port Authority announced its proposed Airport expansion, interest in the Bay and Wildlife Refuge has increased and that attendance at the Refuge has doubled. He said: "It is a sad commentary on our times that far too many people do not become concerned until a threat is presented to them."

In his prepared testimony, Heckscher said:

"As congestion increases not only in our city, but in our suburbs as well, the need to have this oasis of nature grows greater.
As a living link in the migration patterns of scores of different species of birds and water fowl, the Bay is both an area of appreciation of nature and a giant laboratory, especially for children.

"If the Bay would be destroyed by the expansion plan, there is the serious question of what would happen to birds who now come to the area and the fish which depend on the area as a breeding ground. But I have faith in nature, I am more concerned, in this respect, about man. If the Bay is destroyed, how will he learn about nature; how will he appreciate the beauty of the pattern of migration. The Bay cannot be replaced.

"With the present and projected increases in population in this region, the need for open park and recreation space is heightened. We are in a fight with housing, industry, schools, hospitals, etc., for additional space. While I am hopeful that we will gain additional limited areas for park space, the demand for large areas just cannot be met in the communities.

"We must keep what we have at Jamaica Bay and improve it so it can better serve the recreational needs of the years to come.
Whether through the proposed Gateway National Recreational area or by itself, the Bay can and will be developed to increase the recreational facilities of the entire area and at the same time preserve the Bay as a wildlife refuge for the enjoyment of the vast section of the population which is now just becoming aware of its existence and beauty."

Testimony by August Heckscher, New York City Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator, at hearing of Joint Legislative Committee on Environmental Management and Natural Resources, December 8, 1970:

I am very glad this Committee is holding this hearing for it is another way which will focus attention on the grave danger which is facing everyone who is concerned about ecology and present and future recreational and environmental educational facilities. It is a sad commentary on our times that far too many people do not become concerned until a threat is presented to them. Since the Port Authority revealed its proposal to expand Kennedy Airport into Jamaica Bay, attendance at our Jamaica Bay Refuge has doubled. Requests for information about the Bay and Refuge have been continuous since the proposal was made. More and more teachers are working a tour of the Refuge into their programs. And thousands upon thousands of people, most of whom have not been to the Refuge, are voicing their opposition to the proposed expansion.

I do not think you would be having this hearing if you did not already recognize the unique value of the Bay, and, therefore, I will not dwell on this area. The Bay is the last wildlife refuge of its kind, not only in our City and State, but the entire east coast.
As congestion grows not only in our City, but in our suburbs as well, the need to have this oasis of nature increases. As a living link in the migration patterns of scores of different species of birds and water fowl, the Bay is both an area of appreciation of nature and a giant laboratory, especially for children.

While as a park man I could go on about the Bay from a nature and recreational point of view, I think the best criticism of the
The proposed expansion is on its own grounds—namely transportation. The undeniable fact is that even if this expansion were permitted, it would not solve the air transportation problems of our region. That problem can only be answered by a fourth jetport. Everyone, including the Port Authority, recognizes and admits this. We don't need just a couple of more runways or more space. We need another airport. The skies over Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark are so filled now that experts tell us the expansion will not be bringing many more planes into the area. The congestion at Kennedy can be met by adopting plans other than the expansion. They include:

* greater use of short takeoff and landing (STOL) and vertical take-off and landing (VTOL) crafts and construction of needed facilities throughout the area.

* changes in scheduling to shift flights away from peak hours.

* introduction and use of new equipment and methods.
The only reason the Port Authority is looking to the Bay is because agreement has not been reached on a fourth jetport. If the new airport was being built or in operation, the Port Authority would not be looking for this terrible expansion.

Therefore, I feel that the best way to preserve Jamaica Bay for environmental and recreational purposes is for all sides once and for all to get together and select the location for the fourth jetport. I realize this is not an easy task and there is a great desire to put the inevitable decision off until another term or another official is in office. But to destroy it only as a temporary measure which at its inception is regarded as only a time-saving device would be a catastrophe of almost unparalleled proportions and one of the darkest days in man's so-called enlightened period.

In summary, I would say that the value of the Bay to wildlife and to man is unmatched in this entire area. The need for such a refuge is ever increasing. The development of the Bay is the only way we are going to even try to meet the recreational demands of the future. And the transportation needs of our entire region will not be answered by this expansion. A fourth jetport is needed and this is what should be built.

Thank you for the opportunity.

RING IN THE NEW YEAR PARTY IS SET FOR CENTRAL PARK

The public is being invited to literally and figuratively "ring in the new year" during the fourth annual New Year's Eve Party at Bethesda Fountain in Central Park.

Guests are being encouraged to bring, ring and wear bells of all sorts as part of the multi-media party which will run from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. The party will be presented by the City Department of Cultural Affairs as part of the City's Holiday Festival and was announced by Commissioner Dore Schary.

WNEW-FM personality Zacherly will emcee the party which will feature music provided by Olatunji and His Drums of Passion. Dancers, drummers, and members of the Bread and Puppet Theatre will provide additional entertainment.

At midnight a spectacular display of fireworks will light up the sky above Central Park Lake to usher in 1971. This is the only time during the year fireworks are permitted in the Park.

The Fountain area will be decorated in the festival mood with blinker lights lining the edge of the Lake, balloons and a canopy of lights strung above the Fountain, and large inflatable forms within the Fountain itself. The Phoenix House is creating wind sock sculpture made from silver mylar for the two flag poles. Projection screens will be hung from trees and slide show and film collages will be presented.

While most of the activities will be unconventional, one thing will be typical of other New Year's Eve parties—hot wine punch and rum cider and other holiday beverages will be sold by Restaurant Associates.

In announcing the party, Cultural Affairs Commissioner Schary said: "We have planned a joyous and amusing New Year's Eve party and hope as many people as possible will join together to ring out the old and ring in the new. Regardless of our individual judgement of 1970, the party at Bethesda Fountain will be a unique and different way to end one year and launch another."
Central Park will be closed to vehicular traffic starting at 10 p.m. New Year's Eve.

Parks Department personnel will help set up the decorations and other facilities for the party. Both the Parks and Cultural Affairs Departments are part of the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration.

FREE WORKSHOPS IN THE ARTS
OFFERED AT MT. MORRIS PARK

Aspiring artists have an opportunity to participate in their choice of free workshops in the arts at Mt. Morris Park Recreation Center at 122nd Street and Mount Morris Park West. The workshop program is being presented by the City Department of Cultural Affairs with a grant from composer Richard Rogers, who grew up in the Mount Morris Park area and contributed to the construction of the new center.

HECKSCHER SUPPORTS NAMING PARK IN HONOR OF MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.

The Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration has thrown its support behind a move to designate the park area bounded by Shakespeare Avenue, West 168th Street and Woodycrest Avenue, in the Bronx, as the Martin Luther King Memorial Park.

In backing the move, PRCA Administrator August Heckscher noted that it is his agency's policy to support the naming of parks and playgrounds "in honor of those who have contributed substantially to the areas of parks, recreation and cultural affairs, or who have distinguished themselves in service of the nation." He added that his Administration supported the renaming of Linton Park in Brooklyn as the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Park.

A resolution making the change has been submitted to the City Council by Bronx Councilmen Barry Salman, Bertram R. Gelfand and Aileen B. Ryan.

MORE LIGHTS TO SHINE ON WOODSIDE MEMORIAL PARK

"There will be more lighting in Woodside Memorial Park," Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher announced today, "which we hope will make the park safer and encourage residents to further enjoy its facilities."

Community concern about lighting in the park, located at Roosevelt and Woodside Avenues and 60th Street, Queens, spurred a site inspection of the park by the PRCA Engineering division. Although it is commonly known as Woodside Memorial Park, the park's official name is Rev. Matthew J. Grosson Memorial Park.

The inspectors agreed that more lighting was desirable and a contract has been given by the Department of Public Works to Broadway Maintenance Corp. to install four floodlights to shine into the park to two existing light poles.

The lights will be up next spring, the Public Works Department experts said.

YOUNGSTERS TO THROW BEETHOVEN
A PARTY IN CENTRAL PARK WED.

Beethoven's 200th birthday will be celebrated with a brass band, birthday cake and a chorus singing "Happy Birthday" at the Beethoven Monument in Central Park on Wednesday (December 16) at 3 p.m.

Twenty-eight students from Lincoln Square Academy will gather around the monument, opposite the 72nd Street Bandshell in Central Park, for a party to celebrate the 200th anniversary of Ludwig Von Beethoven's birth.

The celebration, conceived by Mrs. Patricia Window-Klein, a teacher at the Academy, was planned with the cooperation of the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration (PRCA).

A small brass band from the Manhattan School of Music will play and children from the Metropolitan Opera Children's Chorus will lead the group in singing "Happy Birthday, Mr. Beethoven." A large birthday cake, donated by London Records, will be served.

With assistance from Parks Department personnel, the students will wash and polish the 17'2" bronze bust and marble pedestal, so that Beethoven will be in top condition for his party.

"I'm certainly pleased that these young New Yorkers are gathering around a park monument and using it as a focal point for a celebration to honor this great composer," PRCA Administrator August Heckscher said. "The monument was a gift to the City, and, as such, should be enjoyed by the people," Heckscher, who will attend the party, added.

The Parks Department maintains two monuments to the German composer. The one in Central Park was presented to the City by the Beethoven Mannerchoir on its 25th anniversary, July 22, 1884. Ten years later, a second monument was erected in Prospect Park, Brooklyn, as a gift by the United German Singers of Brooklyn. Henry Baerer sculpted both pieces.

HECKSCHER PLEASED BY SETTLEMENT
ON ROAD IMPROVEMENTS IN DOUGLASTON

August Heckscher, Bayside-Little Neck-Douglaston Task Force chairman, today said he was "very pleased" by the settlement reached yesterday whereby the City Transportation Administration will carefully study and evaluate the necessity and desirability of improving 38th Drive and 39th Avenue after 41st Avenue is improved in Douglaston.

Heckscher noted: "I think this agreement reflects the Transportation Administration's recognition of the concern of the community and the community's recognition of the need for some road improvements. The community and my Task Force will be involved in the evaluation and decisions which will be reached."

In a settlement reached yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Leo Brown, the Transportation Administration said it would proceed with construction of 41st Avenue. Actual work will begin around April 1, 1971, and should be completed by June 1 of the same year. Some temporary patch-work on 41st Avenue will be done immediately so the road will be more passable during the winter.

During the 60 days following the completion of the work, the Administration added, it will assess the traffic patterns and, after consultation with Heckscher and the community, reach a decision on work on 38th Drive and 39th Avenue.

In view of this action by the Transportation Administration, the Douglaston Civic Association withdrew its court action seeking to enjoin the City from working on any of the three roads.

Heckscher, who is the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator, added: "I would like to thank Transportation Administrator Constantine Sidamon-Eristoff for the concern about the community's interests he has demonstrated throughout our talks. Working through the Task Force, the community was involved in the negotiations on this difficult problem."

PRCA ASKS $76.5 MILLION IN NEXT BUDGET
CITES OPENING OF NEW FACILITIES, ECONOMIES

The Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration this afternoon (Mon.) submitted a 1971-72 Expense Budget request of $76,464,155, which "reflects both our need for additional personnel and equipment for new facilities, as well as a recognition of the financial crisis facing New York and all major cities of the nation," according to PRCA Administrator August Heckscher.

Heckscher pointed out that some $3.3 million in additional funds will be needed for personnel "to man new facilities we will be opening during the coming fiscal year, or facilities which, through repair and rehabilitation, we will be re-opening to the public." This includes playgrounds, parks, swimming pools, ballfields, a senior citizen center and a recreation center.

Some $1.2 million in additional funds will be needed for mandated salary increases and $600,000 for repairs and replacement of equipment caused by vandalism, Heckscher added.

While the request figure is $6,563,380 over PRCA's present modified budget of $69,900,775, Heckscher noted the sum is less than half the increase his agency asked for last year.

In a statement submitted with his request at the Bureau of the Budget's headquarters in the Municipal Building, Heckscher said:

"I am submitting for your consideration and approval, the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration's Expense Budget request for the 1971-72 fiscal year. Amounting to $76,464,155, it reflects both our need for additional personnel and equipment for new facilities, as well as a recognition of the financial crisis facing New York and all major cities of the nation.

"This total is $6,563,380 over our present modified Budget of $69,900,775. However, this is less than half the increase we asked for last year. Last December, we asked for a 1970-71 Budget which was some $13.5 million over the 1969-70 modified Budget.

"The largest part of our request for increased funds, some $3.3 million, will be needed for personnel to man new facilities we will be opening during the coming fiscal year, or facilities which, through repair and rehabilitation, we will be re-opening to the public. This includes many playgrounds, parks, swimming pools, ballfields, a senior citizen center and a recreation center.

"Some $1.2 million is needed to meet mandated salary increases, including those resulting from collective bargaining agreements. Some $600,000 is required for repairs and replacement of equipment caused by vandalism. The remainder is for other than personal services. This reflects the need for equipment and supplies for our new facilities as well as increases in the prices of our normal supplies.

"While we fully recognize the financial problems of our City, we hope you will take into consideration the fact that PRCA has already felt heavily the effects of Budget curtailments and belt tightening. This includes reductions in Budget requests, job freezes, budget modifications and reductions in programs. We have carefully reexamined and analyzed all our operations and have been extremely conservative in estimating our needs.

"Through improved management and greater output by our personnel, we have been working to maintain our level of performance. This Budget request—modest when viewed against our requirements—will enable us to continue the programs and services the public expects and which the public needs."

'EYE OPENER' IS A VISUAL TREAT
FOR YOUNGSTERS THIS HOLIDAY

During this Christmas vacation, youngsters and adults can share a holiday treat and explore the City's mobile visual exhibit "Eye Opener," which will be at Stuyvesant Oval in Manhattan through Dec. 31.

Presented by the City Department of Cultural Affairs and the Metropolitan Museum of Art, through a contribution from the Billy Rose Foundation, "Eye Opener" is especially designed to awaken young people to the art which exists in the world around them.

"During this holiday time, we are especially happy to have "Eye Opener" visit one of our communities. It certainly will be a visual treat," Cultural Affairs Commissioner Dore Schary said.

"Eye Opener" is housed in a 40-foot flatbed trailer which is covered by a double-walled air structure. The Spiral Show inside is built around spiral forms common in nature, everyday objects, and works of art.

The exhibition features a four-minute film, a fingerprint wall, a 24-inch Kalliroscope by Paul Matisse and two continuous slide shows.

Big Brothers of New York City, a non-profit social work organization, in cooperation with Stuyvesant Town, owned and operated by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., are the local neighborhood hosts.

Young boys from Big Brothers, assisted by Museum staff members, will guide other youngsters through the exhibit daily, except Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. On Sundays the exhibit will be open from noon to 6 p.m. "Eye Opener" will be closed on Christmas Day.

The "Eye Opener" trailer is transported to the different communities through a contribution of the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Company.

"RING IN THE NEW YEAR' PARTY
ANNOUNCED FOR CENTRAL PARK

Central Park will ring with bells and music and light up with a midnight display of fireworks as part of the active celebration of the City's fourth annual New Year's Eve Party at Bethesda Fountain in Central Park.

Officially announcing plans for the New Year's Eve Party at a press conference today (December 15), Commissioner of Cultural Affairs Dore Schary explained that the party, to be held from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m., will be part of the City's Holiday Festival.

"The theme of this year's party is 'Ring in the New Year' and we want to invite everyone to join in this ancient tradition of ringing bells at festive occasions," Commissioner Schary explained. "Wear bells, ring bells and even make your own bells and bring them to Central Park this New Year's Eve," he said while demonstrating a number of the different bells which will decorate the Fountain for the party.

WNEW-FM personality Zacherly will emcee the party while Olatunji and His Drums of Passion provide the music which will keep everyone dancing.

At midnight, a spectacular display of fireworks will light up the sky above Central Park Lake to usher in 1971. This is the only time during the year fireworks are permitted in the Park.

Commissioner Schary called the party an "active celebration" because "people will be needed to participate in and create the activities at the party." Dancers, decorated in bells and long capes, will weave through the crowd encouraging guests to join them. A large communal instrument is being designed for everyone to play. Large inflatable forms will float in the Fountain and can be bounced around by the guests. The Bread and Puppet Theater will perform.

WABC-TV is producing a special color film collage, which will highlight events of 1970, on one of several white projection screens hung from surrounding trees. Films showing the Fountain area and a slide show will also be featured.

The Fountain area will be decorated in the festival mood with blinker lights lining the edge of the Lake, balloons, a canopy of light strung above the Fountain and a huge display of bells donated by the Bells of Sarna. Phoenix House is creating silver milar wind socks for the two flag poles.

Hot wine punch and rum cider and other holiday beverages will be sold by Restaurant Associates.

"Parks are used by so many people for celebrations during the year, it is therefore very fitting to have a New Year's Eve Party in the park to close this year and usher in a new one," Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher said.

Parks Department personnel will help set up the decorations and other facilities for the party. Both the Park and Cultural Affairs Departments are part of the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration.

V.I.P. PROGRAM GIVES CHRISTMAS TREES TO ACTIVE COMMUNITY PARK GROUPS

Christmas trees will sparkle in parks and playgrounds throughout the City this season as an offshoot of the City Department of Parks' Volunteers-In-Parks Program.

The V.I.P. Program is giving over a dozen trees to communities which cleaned and spruced up their neighborhood parks and lots in cooperation with the V.I.P. Program, and requested the trees.

In Manhattan, the trees will be at:

Attorney Playground, between Stanton and Rivington Sts.
(Given to "Right on!," a group of young Puerto Ricans who cleaned up and held weekly parties last summer at the playground)

MAYOR LIGHTS CHRISTMAS TREE
OFFICIALLY OPENING HOLIDAY SEASON

Mayor John V. Lindsay officially opened the 1970 holiday season in New York City when he flicked the switch to light the Christmas tree in City Hall Park at 5 p.m. this afternoon (Thurs., Dec. 17).

The All City High School Chorus sang Christmas carols at the ceremony and Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher was the master of ceremonies.

Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton brought holiday greetings to New Yorkers and Mayor Lindsay gave a Christmas message before lighting the tree.

The 55-foot high Canadian spruce placed in front of City Hall glimmers with 450 blue, green and white lights, large red balls, shimmering mirrors and 35 hand-decorated silver globes. The globes were decorated with colored tape, sequins and paper disks by 12 elementary school children of the New York City Creative Arts Workshop at the Alfred E. Smith Recreation Center, 80 Catherine St., Manhattan. The Center and program are operated by PRCA.

The City Hall tree is one of 30 Christmas trees put up throughout the five boroughs by PRCA. The trees were selected by a PRCA representative and shipped here from Coaticook, Quebec. They are all Canadian spruces and range in size from 20 feet to 55 feet and decorate borough halls, city buildings and parks throughout the City.

Official tree lighting ceremonies also took place this afternoon in the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island. The trees in Joyce Kilmer Park, the Bronx, and at the Borough Halls in Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island were lit at the same time Mayor Lindsay lit the City Hall tree.

HECKSCHER OPPOSES PROPOSED CLOSINGS AT BKLYN. INSTITUTE

For Further Information:
Sam Samuels 360-8141

Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher this morning (Sun.) called proposed closings at the Brooklyn Institute "irresponsible, uncalled for and a disservice to the public." He noted the Institute "cannot act unilaterally" in closing its doors to the public and if the Institute proceeds with its indicated plans, "we shall take appropriate action."

Heckscher pointed out that the City allocated $2,252,000 to the Brooklyn Institute in its current Expense Budget, of which only $76,000 is currently being reduced. "I think it is apparent to all that a three per cent reduction should not cause the mass closings indicated by the Institute," he added.

The PRCA head issued a statement as there were reports that the Institute's leadership would be making announcements on closings later in the day.

Heckscher's statement follows:

"I have been informed that this afternoon, the Brooklyn Institute will announce the closing of some of its facilities. The magnitude of this anticipated action is irresponsible, uncalled for and a disservice to the public.

"The Brooklyn Institute was allocated $2,252,000 in the City's 1970-71 Expense Budget. The recently-announced reduction of $76,000, therefore, represents a cut of only three per cent. While I in no way want to under emphasize the problem this reduction will have, I think it is apparent to all that a three per cent reduction should not cause the mass closings anticipated.

"PRCA, as well as other agencies of the City, has made sacrifices in performance and programs because of the economic conditions affecting the nation and all large city governments. It was only after other aspects of PRCA activities were sharply reduced that we reluctantly had to allocate budget reductions to many of the cultural institutions which receive City assistance through our agency. We carefully analyzed all operations and the impact cuts would have. The sum reduced at the Brooklyn Institute is half the figure which was first proposed."

"Obviously, budget reductions will mean reductions in some programs. The decision on how the $76,000 would be applied within the operations and departments of the Institute was left to the Institute itself. The City, therefore, is not proposing to close..."
doors or cut certain personnel. The Institute has proposed the most dramatic way to apply these reductions, without regard to program or effects on the general public.

"We will not allow this to happen. The Institute has various contractual agreements with the City regarding keeping its doors open to the public. The Institute cannot act unilaterally in this area.
If it does, we shall take appropriate action.

"It is my hope that instead of working to frighten or inflame the public, the Institute would work with us on ways in which these necessary reductions can be made with the least effect on the Institute's service to the public. It is toward this end that I feel the Institute should be directing itself."

SEASONAL MUSIC ADDED TO REPERTOIRE
AT DELACORTE CENTRAL PARK ZOO CLOCK

The sculptured animals on guard duty on top of the Delacorte Clock on the arch between the Central Park Zoo and Children's Zoo will be dancers to Christmas music until the turn of the year.

The Christmas and winter tunes will be tinkling on the hour and half-hour, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Special seasonal tapes are alternated periodically to the more than 20 nursery rhyme tunes played by the clock.

The tunes were selected by George T. Delacorte, Jr., philanthropist and founder of Dell Publishing Company, who donated the clock to the City.

The musical menagerie of the bronze sculpture includes animated monkeys who take turns telling the hours by striking a bell with hammers while below them circles an orchestra of six pirouetting animals playing instruments familiar to the thousands of children and adults who congregate each day to enjoy the performances.

A dignified penguin drums a tattoo on a kettle drum strung across his chest, head averted to listen to the notes that float from a pair of flutes tooted by a high-stepping kid.

A bear throws his head up and flings back his arm as he prepares to trail his nails over a loosely-clutched tambourine.

An elephant stretches out his leg almost as far as the accordion he dandles between his hooves and joins in with his own trumpet.

A kangaroo sits upright, devoting herself to serious concentration on her brass horn while her youngster sticks his head out of her pouch to blow a few hot licks on his own horn.

And a hippopotamus, posturing as though he were on the concert stage, dreamily draws his bow across his violin.

HECKSCHER SAYS HALL OF SCIENCE WILL REMAIN OPEN UNTIL JUNE

The Hall of Science in Flushing Meadows-Corona Park will not be closing until June, when construction of new facilities will launch a program of portable programs, Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher has explained.

Heckscher issued a statement to clarify the situation, following reports that the Hall might have to close during the winter.

In his statement, Heckscher said:

"I am concerned that many people may be unclear about what will be happening at the Hall of Science during the massive construction program which will begin this summer.

"To begin with, the Hall will not be closing until the end of June. While the Hall of Science, as well as every other cultural institution in the City, is currently facing financial difficulties, I am very glad that the directors and administrators of the Hall have reached decisions which will allow this wonderful facility to remain open through the end of the current school year.

"The nature and scope of the construction program, which will last some two and a half years, is such that the existing buildings cannot remain open to the general public during the construction period. But, here again, the leadership of the Hall of Science has developed alternate programs which will allow its valuable programs to continue. The Hall will be operating portable units which will be placed throughout the City.

"Details of this program will be announced by the Hall of Science as soon as they are completed.

"While the closing will cause some interruptions in service, I am sure we will all take joy in the enlarged and improved Hall of Science complex once it is completed."

HECKSCHER REPORTS ON IMPROVEMENTS COMPLETED IN PROSPECT PARK IN 1970

A special Parks Department horticultural task force has been working in the Tea Garden and Wollman Memorial Skating Rink sections of Prospect Park, relandscaping and replanting eroded areas, as part of several beautification projects completed in 1970 in the Park. This is the report issued today by August Heckscher, Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator and Commissioner of Parks.

In a year-end report, Heckscher said:

"The maintenance and improvement of Prospect Park is of prime concern to my agency, as well as many elected officials and the residents of Brooklyn. I have had several meetings with City Councilman Thomas J. Cuite, who has expressed his deep interest in the Park and who has been extremely helpful in achieving the necessary approvals for many projects underway in the Park. I have also assured Councilman Cuite that although there are several individual projects scheduled, we regard these operations as part of a continuing rehabilitation and improvement program.

"Six months ago, on a visit to the Park, I directed that special emphasis be given to repairing eroded areas. Now I am pleased to announce that we not only have a special horticulture task force whose sole job it is to work on replanting and regrading the landscape, but that two areas, the hillside between the Tea Garden and Breeze Hill and the area around the Wollman Memorial Skating Rink, have been repaired and replanted.

"The eight-man task force will work through the winter and next spring in other areas of the Park, restoring lawns, working on badly eroded hillsides and replanting.

"Three other projects were completed this year in the Park. PRCA men realigned walls, replaced damaged structural supports and put a new roof on the lake shelter, the only wooden shelter in Prospect Park, located on the south side of the Lake, near the Wollman Skating Rink."
The Well House, the oldest building in Prospect Park, has also been improved, with a new roof, paint job and repaired windows and doors. On the northwest side of Prospect Park Lake, it is the last remaining building of those designed by Calvert Vaux, who, with Frederick Law Olmsted, designed the Park.

Lastly, Heckscher noted, a gift from the Parks Council enabled PRCA to purchase new plantings for the outside of Litchfield Mansion, including azelia, taxus, new hedges and dogwood plantings.

Heckscher also pointed out that in October, PRCA awarded a $1,010,600 contract for the rehabilitation of the exterior of the Proposed Park Boathouse. Preliminary work on the project has begun. It is scheduled to be completed in 1972.

NEW DESIGNS TO BE DRAWN FOR MACLAUGHLIN PARK

Design plans for Ruth MacLaughlin Park at Greystone Ave. and 238th St., the Bronx, will be altered to reduce construction cost and to speed up the project, Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator August Heckscher announced today.

The decision was reached at a meeting in Heckscher's office
Dec. 22, attended by Richard Baldwin, president of the Greystone Avenue-Manhattan College Parkway Association, Robert Rosenberg, former Task Force Chairman in Riverdale, June Margolian, a representative from the Mayor's Task Force and other members of the Greystone Association.

The construction of the park has been delayed because the original price request was too high, so the members at the meeting decided to return the plans to the PRCA design division. After PRCA redesigns the plans to accommodate an $80,000 cost ceiling, PRCA will submit the plans to the community for approval and then send them to the Bureau of the Budget for review.

"I can assure you that this project will be given priority in this agency," Heckscher told community members at the meeting, "and that I will make every effort to see that the park is constructed as fast as possible."

SENIOR CITIZEN, JUNIOR PERMITS FOR CITY GOLF COURSES AVAILABLE

City residents 62 and over or 17 and younger can pick up special permits for discounts at City golf courses starting Jan. 4, the Parks Department has announced.

The permits must be obtained in person at any of the Department's five borough headquarters.

To be eligible for a senior citizen permit, a City resident must be 62 years of age or older and present some identification indicating date of birth. A passport-type photograph is also required. Those who have received such permits in the past do not have to apply for a new one since their present permits last until Dec. 31, 1972. With a permit, a senior citizen can play at any of the City's 13 golf courses on weekdays, except holidays, for $1, rather than the normal $2.50 fee. Four of the courses are year-round facilities.

Youngsters 17 or younger must also present proof of age and a photograph to receive a junior permit, which is good for only one year. The fee with a junior permit is 75 cents on weekdays, except holidays.

In making the announcement, August Heckscher, Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator, said: "We have found increased interest in golf among youngsters and our senior citizens and are pleased to offer these discounts so members of these two groups can further enjoy these City facilities."

Permits can be obtained at the following Parks Department borough headquarters:

Bronx: Bronx Park East and Birchall Avenue.

Brooklyn: Litchfield Mansion, Prospect Park West and 5th Street.

Queens: The Overlook, Forest Park, Union Turnpike and Park Lane.

Richmond: Clove Lakes Park, 1150 Clove Road.

Manhattan: The Arsenal, 830 Fifth Avenue.

PUBLIC LIBRARY AT 42ND STREET NOTES
OFFICIAL DESIGNATION AS LANDMARK

The Public Library at 42nd Street and Fifth Avenue "has long been a landmark in the minds of generations of New Yorkers," August Heckscher, the City's Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator, said today (Wed., 11 a.m.) at a ceremony officially noting the designation of the central Public Library building as a Registered National Historic Landmark and a New York City Landmark. The ceremony was held in the Trustees Room of the library.

Heckscher noted that City funds for the three library systems in the City come out of the PRCA budget and that the Landmarks Preservation Commission, which designates City landmarks, is also part of PRCA.

In his speech, the PRCA head said:
"I am very pleased to take part in this ceremony which once again highlights the cultural and historic importance of the Public Library to the life of our City.

"I take double pride in this recognition. The City's financial contribution to this main center as well as to the New York, Brooklyn and Queens Public Library systems comes under the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration. Working with the officials of the libraries, their trustees and the public-spirited citizens of our City who aid these institutions, we join together to improve the educational and cultural life of the City.

"Secondly, the Landmarks Preservation Commission is also part of PRCA. We are all very proud of the outstanding work this Commission and its chairman, Harmon Goldstone, are doing to save the treasured landmarks which do so much to recall our City's great past and to point to the future.

"This Public Library has long been a landmark in the minds of generations of New Yorkers, I am glad we are holding this ceremony today to mark its official designation as a National and City landmark."
